Rumored New Atlantic Terminus for the Canadian Pacific Railway —Panama Service.

Movements of a Descendant of Columbus—More Opium Smuggling at San Francisco.

A Descendant of Columbus.

NEW YORK, April 19.—The Duke of Veragua to-day visited the downtown exchange and business buildings, and this afternoon tendered a great reception, at which 4,800 invitations were out, and ladies were receiving and being received. From the crowd that jammed and pushed and tramped through the gorgeous apartments of the hotel for three suffocating hours it would seem that most of the 4,800 made use of their invitations and then came out and turned over their invitations to friends on the outside.

Carlisle's New Order.

NEW YORK, April 20. — Bank officers, brokers and financiers generally down town are in a quandary over the report that Secretary Carlisle might issue an order directing that no more treasury notes be redeemed in gold. These treasury notes were issued in payment for silver purchased by the Government, and there are about $130,000,000 of them in circulation at present, mostly in New York and the East. Most of the national bank presidents in the city seen today discredited the report and are unwilling to attempt to foretell the result of such order if it were issued. The concensus of opinion of the bank presidents spoken to is that the first effects of such an order would be to send gold to a small premium. Considerable talk was indulged in after the close of the stock exchange about alleged heavy shipments of gold by Saturday's European steamers. As far as can be learned at this time only one house will ship and the consignment will be at least $2,000,000, unless bills can be secured. There appears to be a disposition on the part of certain exporters to avoid sending gold, as they don't care to bear the criticism they think will follow the breaking in on the $100,000,000 gold reserve. Unusually high rates for exchange have led to talk about a heavy outflow of gold.

C. P. R.'s Atlantic Terminus.

NEW YORK, April 19.—A new scheme of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has just leaked out, says a Montreal dispatch to the Times, and, although it is denied by the railroad officials, it is believed there is more truth than poetry in it. The scheme is to make Quebec the Atlantic terminus of the road. The old Champlain Market is to be bought, if they have not secured it already. An immense railroad station will be built in its place to accommodate twenty passenger trains at once. This will be alongside of a deep water wharf, to be built where a line of fast steamers, practically owned by the company, but under another name, will land passengers at any stage of the tide. These vessels will draw between twenty-seven and thirty feet of water, being of too much draught to come up to Montreal. All this is vouched for by a prominent Quebecer usually well informed in Canadian Pacific matters. It is understood that at the annual meeting of the shareholders on May 10 the question of increasing the capital stock will come up. The company has almost completed its magnificent hotel, the Chateau Frontenac, at Quebec.

New Panama Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—The St. Paul, which was the first of the North American Navigation Co.'s steamers to sail for Panama, has completed her round trip, returning to port to-day. She came in with a full cargo of general merchandise from New York.

More Opium Smuggling.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—Customs Inspector Thomas H. Douglas, son of Police Captain Douglas, was arrested to-day by customs officers and is now in custody of United States Marshal Long, charged with aiding in attempting to secure the landing of a large quantity of opium valued at about $3,000. Douglas had been detailed to watch the steamer China. He exchanged places during the night with the man on board of the vessel, and shortly after 220 tins of opium in a sack were passed out to him. As soon as he had received them Douglas pulled away from the China, but had not got far when he was halted. In a few minutes the opium was taken out of the boat and put on board the China. This morning Surveyor Kilburn was informed and the arrest followed. Douglas says he knows nothing about the matter, and the first he knew of the seizure was when he heard of it to-day. Bail has been fixed at $5,000.

The Oregon Pacific.

CORVALIS, Ore., April 20.—The Oregon Pacific pay car went over their road to-day and paid all the employes forty-six per cent of the total amount due them for back services. Since the present management took control things have assumed a more satisfactory shape to all concerned.

WOODLAND'S MYSTERY.

Murder or Suicide?—All That Is Known So Far of the Occurrence.

WOODLAND, Cal., April 20.—The people of Rumsey, Volo county, are considerably agitated over a mysterious affair that may develop into a tragedy. Some days ago a man's blankets, boots, hat and miner's lantern were found on the grade about a mile and a half above Rumsey. There was also a pile of papers on which a large rock had been placed to weigh them down. The place where the things were found is on a bluff with Cache creek running some hundred feet below. As the story goes, a day or two before the discovery was made a man appeared in Rumsey and said he had left his partner in a drunken state back on the grade. There is more than one theory regareing the matter. The one who had evidently been an employe of the quicksilver mine might, while in a drunken state, have walked off the grade, or have deliberately committed suicide. Others think that having just quit the mines he might have had considerable money and was foully dealt with.

ALL QUIET.

The Only Agitators in Hawaii Are Newspaper Men—Blount and Stevens In Accord.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 20.—A private letter from a U. S. official in Hawaii came in the mail last night. In reference to the report that Commissioner Blount directed the lowering of the United States flag without consulting with Minister Stevens, Admiral Skerry or any representative of the United States in Honolulu, the writer states that Mr. Blount did have a consultation with Mr. Stevens on the subject, and, while he does not say so in so many words, the inference to be drawn from the letter is that Mr. Stevens coincided with the Commissioner in his action. Another report, and one that found much currency in Honolulu, that the Japanese in Hawaii were contemplating resistance by force to American domination over the Islands and that they received arms to assist them in their determination, is contradicted by the writer, who states that the Japanese, in fact all the people of the Islands, are peaceably inclined and do not anticipate trouble; that in point of fact the only agitators there at present are the newspaper correspondents.

CALIFORNIA'S FRUITS.

A Most Interesting Exhibit Forwarded to the World's Fair—A Full Train Load.

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—One of the most interesting exhibits that will be seen at the World's Fair left Pasadena to-day. It consists of orange and other trees in full bearing. Extraordinary precautions have to be taken to protect the trees from damage in transit. There were eight carloads, and three more from San Diego and one from San Bernardino will be added, making a full trainload. Several more carloads will follow. Half of them are orange trees and the other half mixed dates, locusts, palms, etc, with a quantity of hedge plants. The orange trees are eight feet high, loaded with fruit in all stages of maturity.

CLEVELAND'S MOVEMENTS.

The Naval Review—The World's Fair—Supreme Court Judges Decline Invitations Because of Business.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The President expects to be absent from Washington about a week in attendance upon the naval review and the opening of the World's Fair. He will go to New York next week and remain until the official ceremonies connected with the review are over. He will then start for Chicago, to be absent three or four days. Mrs. Cleveland will not accompany him to Chicago, although she will accompany him to New York. The Justices of the Supreme Court have decided to decline the invitation to the Naval Review at New York and to the opening of the World's Fair in Chicago as well. The condition of the business of the Supreme Court and the inroads upon its work which these excursions would make moved the court to its determination to stay at home.

WORLD'S FAIR RATES.

The Western Passenger Association Cannot Come to An Arrangement as to Prices.

CHICAGO, April 20.—All the work done by the Western Passenger Association during the last six days went by the board to-day. All the members of the Association threw up their hands and gave up hope of an immediate adjustment of the World's Fair rates. The cause of the collapse was announcement by Passenger Traffic Manager White, of the Atchison and Topeka road, that his company would, at the expiration of thirty days, withdraw from membership in the Association.

HOME RULE.

The Debate to Conclude and Division Taken Friday Morning.

LONDON, April 20.—The debate on the second reading of the Home Rule bill will be concluded on Friday morning, and on that day Mr. Gladstone will deliver a speech, followed by Mr. Balfour, the Conservative leader, who will be the last speaker before taking a vote.

Brazilian Troubles.

VALPARAISO, April 20. — The advance guard of General Telles' Castilhistas army had a skirmish with the troops defending Uruguayana, under the belief that they were Federals. General Telles is also reported to have suffered serious losses in a fight which took place within Banda Oriental territory. The Federals have captured San Francisco, a small town near Urugozota. Gen. Moura, the Brazilian minister of war, has arrived in the city of Rio Grande do Sul with reinforcements for the army which is operating against the revolutionists. Gen. Moura will at once proceed towards Puerta Alegre. He refuses to treat with the Federals, and will demand their unconditional surrender. A gunboat bombarded San Juan yesterday, but did very slight damage.

Town on Fire.

TACOMA, April 20.—A despatch from Wardner, Idaho, says the town is on fire; but gives no particulars. Wardner is a town of 1,000 inhabitants. This is the third time the town has been burned, once in 1889 and again in 1890.

The Ministerial Inquiry Into the Condition of Canadian Manufacturing Industries.

Revision of Quarantine Regulations —Cattle Shipments to England— The Herchmer Investigation.

(From our own Correspondent.)

OTTAWA, April 20.—Hon. G. E. Foster, speaking to-day with regard to the programme which Hon. Mr. Bowell and he will follow in consulting the manufacturers on tariff matters, said the secretary of the Montreal Board of Trade had been written to for his co-operation by arranging for representatives of every important industry in the city to appear before the ministers next week. He had also asked the board to place rooms in its building at the disposal of the members of the Government, in which to receive deputations. The conferences are to be entirely informal and will not be open to any but representatives of the particular industries affected. The purpose is to have as frank and full interchange of ideas as it is possible to obtain. This could not be secured if the public or representatives of newspapers were represented at the meetings. The Toronto Board of Trade is being asked to make similar arrangements. After the conference at Toronto has been concluded Hon. Messrs. Bowell and Foster will visit other large cities of Ontario and Quebec.

Dr. Montizambert is in the city assisting professionally the Deputy Minister of Agriculture in revising the quarantine regulations.

Hon. Mr. Foster proceeds to the Maritime Provinces about the middle of June. In September he and Mrs. Foster will make a trip to the Northwest and British Columbia.

Representatives of the ranching companies of the territories are here to-day depositing tenders for beef supplies to the Indian reserve.

The first of the season's shipments of fat cattle to England will take place on the 29th inst., by the steamer Numidian. Every animal will be carefully inspected before going on ship board. At the port of landing in Great Britain, the interests of the Canadian exporters will be watched by skilled veterinarians.

Mounted Police Comptroller White gives an emphatic contradiction to the report that he attempted to influence Judge Wetmore in the Herchmer investigation.

Miss Galt, daughter of Sir A T. Galt, arrived here this afternoon to take charge of the Ottawa corps of the Salvation Army.

CANADIAN NEWS.

(Special to the COLONIST.)

Tariff Reform.

MONTREAL, April 20.—Hon. Geo. E. Foster, minister of finance, has addressed an important communication to the council of the Montreal Board of Trade, stating that it is his desire to meet representatives of the leading trades and industries in Montreal at an early date, and to confer with them regarding the adjustment of the tariff. In accordance with the Finance Minister's wishes a meeting was held at the Board of Trade rooms to-day when Mr. Foster's wishes were explained and the various industries were requested to appoint delegates to confer with the Minister. Mr. Foster will come down to-morrow, and next week a conference will take place at the Board of Trade rooms. The Minister's action is generally taken as indicating a decision on the part of the Government to submit a tariff reform measure at the next session of parliament.

Reward for Life Saving.

NIAGARA, April 20.—John Belton was to-night at a public meeting presented with a testimonial from the Royal Humane Society of England, for having saved nine persons from drowning on the Queen's Birthday.

New Coal Mining Company.

HALIFAX, April 20.—Another coal mining charter was asked for in the Legislature to-day. The new organization will be called "The Port Hood Commercial Co.," with a capital of $1,000,000. The promoters estimate that there are 150,000,000 tons of coal in Port Hood, and that the quality is unsurpassed by any in the province.

Adultery Not Punishable.

TORONTO, April 20.—Judge Armour, at the Assize court to-day, took a case of adultery from the jury and discharged the prisoner on the ground that there was no Canadian law under which the offence could be punished.

Female Suffrage.

HALIFAX, April 20.—The Female Suffrage bill was reported on by a committee in the House of Assembly this afternoon, recommending that it be deferred for three months. After a short and lively debate it was sent to a committee of the whole House by a vote of 17 to 16.

HAWAIIAN MATTERS.

An Opinion Obtained From the Brother of the President of the Provisional Government.

RIVERSIDE, Cal., April 20.—To bring out the views of one who is in a position to know how matters stand in Hawaii, a United Press reporter called on George H. Dole, brother of Sanford Dole, president of the Provisional Government of Hawaii. He said:

"My brother opposed the resolution passed in the advisory council requesting Stevens to raise the American flag and retain the Boston's troops on shore. My brother said in a private letter that he felt at the time that the declaring of a protectorate was premature. He felt that the Provisional Government was abundantly able to maintain itself, as all the arms and amunition in the kingdom were in its possession and none could be imported by the Royalists. He, however, did not wish to make his private views public, as his judgment had been overruled by his advisors and he did not wish it thought that he was not in harmony with his colleagues. But as the flag and troops have now been removed there is no longer any need for privacy concerning my brother's private views.

"In regard to the present state of affairs, I believe that Hawaii is perhaps better off for having had the temporary protection of the United States, as it has given the Provisional Government time to establish itself. The protectorate practically still exists, and will continue as long as negotiations are pending. While the American flag floated over Hawaii innumerable complications were presented. It was as though the United States were making treaty negotiations with a portion of its own territory."

"Do you think the movement on the part of England in fortifying Esquimalt has any significance in regard to Hawaii?" said the reporter.

"No; I am satisfied that neither England nor any other foreign power wants Hawaii, or in any way cares to raise complications with the United States. The royalists will not make any move. The late reports that the Queen will be re-established is absurd. The provisional government now has a fine body of trained troops and is in a position to maintain itself against any internal disaffection."

CABLE NEWS.

Cuban Sugar Prospects.

HAVANA, April 19.—The weather continues favorable for sugar grinding operations. Several estates have already finished grinding, and most of the others do not expect to continue beyond the 25th instant. The Revista de Agricultura states that the estimates of a decrease of 20,000 tons in the sugar crop is now confirmed, and it is even doubtful whether the production will equal the yield of 820,000 tons of 1891. According to the Boletin Commercial, the representative of the Trinidad Sugar Company is meeting with great difficulty in securing a sufficient quantity of cane to commence grinding next year. The syndicate having forbidden him to advance money to tenants, the latter are reluctant to enter into any agreement unless advances are made to them in order that they may proceed with the preparation and sowing of their fields. The "Weekly" says: "Several of our principal planters are endeavoring to obtain from the warehouse companies and managers not only a reduction of storage rates, but also an arrangement by which those charges and insurances and weighing expenses shall be paid by the producer, and not by the purchaser, as has heretofore been the custom at this place. This scheme it is claimed would attract to Havana a large quantity of sugar which could be disposed of at the same prices they obtain at Matanzas and other outport markets, notwithstanding the smaller advantages planters enjoy there as to storage and facilities for raising money on stored sugar."

Successful Revolutionists.

VALPARAISO, April 20.—A correspondent in Rivera Telegraphs that Sangado has retaken San Juan Bautista, which assures possession of Uruguayana to the revolutionists in Rio Grande del Sul.

New Chilian Cabinet.

VALPARAISO, April 20.—The Chilian cabinet crisis is ended. The cabinet stands this way: Interior, Isidore Errazuriz, Foreign, Joaquin Roderiguez; Justice and Public Instruction, Pedro Montt; Worship and Colonization, Haceindale Jandro Vial; War and Marine, Venturo Blanco Vial; Industry and Public Works, Vincente Davila Carrain.

Chilian Refugees.

VALPARAISO, April 20.—There are no Chilian refugees in the United States legation. By their own acts the ex-Balmacedans whom Minister Egan had sheltered and whose surreder was demanded by the Chilian Government terminated the difficulty so far as the governments were concerned. The refugees determined to escape. Holley was more successful than Col. Fuentes. He got away, but Fuentes was captured by the Chilian guards who were stationed at the legation houses. Fuentes is now in prison, but Holley can not be found. No particulars of their plans for escape or the reason for leaving Minister Egan's house has been received.

Antartic Whaling.

LONDON, April 19.—News has reached Dundee that the whalers are returning from the Antartic ocean, where they found an enormous number of fur seals. One vessel alone is said to have 60,000 skins on board. It is reported that the skippers prevented the scientists who accompanied the expedition from taking observations in order to preserve the secrets of the whereabouts of the sealing grounds.

More Cuban Filibustering.

CITY OF MEXICO, April 20.—It has been discovered that the Cubans in Mexico are thoroughly organized and ready when the signal is given to depart for Cuba and wage war against Spanish rule. The agitation of the revolutionary movement began in Mexico among the Cubans over a year ago. The number already engaged in the revolt is placed at 2,000 in Vera Cruz and this city. The vessels bearing the expedition will sail from a port near Vera Cruz, it is alleged, in a few days. There is an abundance of money behind the movement.

EVANS AND SONTAG.

They Again Manage to Elude Arrest Near Visalia.

VISALIA, Cal., April 20.—Late last evening Sheriff Kahn got a tip that Evans and Sontag were at Evan's house. Kahn quietly went to work and got a posse together and placed the men in good locations. Kahn and a deputy were in the vicinity of the barn, and when Evans and Sontag came out they gave a signal for the balance of the posse. The posse were divided on two different roads, but the men on the line going toward Goshen had moved from where Kohn placed them, and when the outlaws passed in a cart, the officers were out of reach with their shotguns. The robbers have evidently fled to the mountains.

VANCOUVER.

VANCOUVER, April 20.—A scow load of slates from the Jervis Inlet slate quarries will be among the outgoing cargo by the Umatilla for San Francisco on her next trip. Other shipments will follow.

Rev. R. R. Maitland delivered his lecture on "Cranks, Geniuses and Lobby Riders" in Homer Street Methodist church to-night.

The difficulty in getting sailors for outgoing ships still continues. Yesterday two men deserted from the Wythorp, and to-day Captain Edwards got permission to search the American ship Ivy for the missing men. The Ivy has been lying in the stream for two weeks for want of a full complement of men.

The Leiderkrary give their closing ball and concert on the night of April 29th.

Mr. J. S. Rigby, who came from Liverpool to start the C.P.R. cement works, leaves in a day or two, the works being now ready to commence. The employes presented him with a cane and an address on Tuesday night.

Prospects are good for a large attendance at "Our Boys," by the Victoria amateurs on Saturday night. The popular concert has been postponed on that account.

Carolyn Gage appears at the Vancouver opera house Monday and Tuesday evenings next in "A Celebrated Case" and "The Honeymoon."

Though a sum has been set aside each year as a secret service fund, it is claimed that only $18.50 of it has been used since 1889.

The all-day sessions of the Police court have now been occupied with a $20 larceny case.

WESTMINSTER.

NEW WESTMINSTER, April 20.—Owing to continued ill-health Rev. G. W. Mills, of the Westside Presbyterian church, has sent in his resignation to the Presbytery, and will take a trip to Australia in a sailing ship.

Another big meeting will be held on Saturday night to discuss the political situation and the action of the Government in the redistribution matter. A convention of delegates from all parts of the Mainland is to be called for an early date.

The salmon run last night was the largest this season; the oolachan run is a complete failure so far.

The plans for the Fraser River bridge have been received by Mayor Curtis from the Northern Pacific Railway. They show a six span structure of iron and steel, with cement piers, cribbed, and a draw of 200 feet.

Miss Mary McLaren arrived from Perthshire, Scotland, yesterday, and last night was married to Charles Kettles, manager of Pemberton's ranch at Ladner's Landing.

NANAIMO.

NANAIMO, April 20.—The eight-year old son of S. Kenyon met with a serious accident last evening. He was riding down Commercial street on his father's donkey when the animal, scared by the barking of a dog, bolted. The youngster lost his hold and was thrown violently off, his head striking a rock in the road. The little fellow was picked up unconscious and taken into the Nanaimo pharmacy, where he was attended by Dr. Walkem. It was found that he had sustained a severe cut over one eye, which had to be sewn up. After the boy had come to and his wound had been dressed he was conveyed home to his father

Everybody is talking politics. The Liberal meeting in the Opera House last evening has fairly set the ball rolling. Mr. W. Marchant addressed a fairly large audience, expounding the Liberal policy and dealing particularly with the free trade question. The address was given with the customary energy and eloquence and was well received by his auditors. In response to loud calls, Mayor Haslam took the platform, and was given an enthusiastic reception. Mayor Haslam disclaimed any intention of giving an eloquent oration—that was not in his line. He was opposed in principle to free trade for Canada; he believed in certain measures of reciprocity with the United States, and maintained that it would be advantageous for Canada to extend her trade with Great Britain; in fact he was an Imperial Federationist. Mayor Haslam criticised many of the statements made by Mr. Marchant, his criticisms evoking much applause and counter applause. He closed his remarks by stating that he was a resident of Nanaimo, and that he had no doubt the he could work as heartily for the best interests of the district as any outsider. He ridiculed the idea of the local Liberal party sending to Victoria for a representative.

KASLO-SLOCAN.

(From the Kaslo-Slocan Examiner.)

Stages to the mines are running out daily with a full load of passengers.

During the week subscriptions have been asked for a Catholic church, and Geo. T. Kane has given four lots for a site and some help has been extended. The intention is to put up a church of at least the value of $1,000, and if sufficient aid is received a $5 000 edifice will be erected.

On the 14th inst. 20 tons of fine ore were shipped from the Mountain Chief mine. Purchased last fall by Geo. W. Hughes for $1,500, it is to-day worth not less than $100,000. The shipment was not selected but sacked just as taken from the vein. It averages from 125 to 150 ounces in silver and 82 per cent. lead to the ton.

C. M. Bartlett, representing the Boston and Montana Mining and Milling company, came up from Butte this week and is in conference with leading business men with a view to building a sampling works here, having a capacity of 100 tons of ore a day. It is understood that the site has already been selected. This will be a good thing not only for Kaslo, but for the great mining region tributary to us, as miners can sell the output of their properties upon its receipts and reports.

A. J. McKenzie was awarded the contract for ties for about five miles of road for the Kaslo and Slocan railway. This contract only covers a certain tract which is to be cleared. Another contract will be let in a couple of weeks.

As a result of recent meetings very satisfactory progress is being made in the preliminaries for the incorporation of Kaslo as a city. An application has already gone forward to Victoria. The 1,500 or more people on this townsite seem practically unanimous in favor of incorporation, seeing the necessity of an organized civic administration, having power to levy taxes, collect license fees, etc., and to expend the proceeds in the various public services, such as street grading, fire protection, and other things.

Indications point to the fact that the present season will develop more great mining propositions in the Kaslo-Slocan district than has ever been seen in the world. The reasons are the fact of the veins being so large and that they average in richness so much higher than mining men have been accustomed to, that they at first question it, and then concede it to be a fact. These ores are immediately on the surface, hence mining propositions are easily placed in condition for rapid development and the extraction of ores. Expensive machinery is not required, for the mountains are very high and almost veritical, which admits of being opened up in a thorough and systematic manner by tunnels. Thus shafts and costly hoisting works will be a thing unknown in the great Kaslo-Slocan mineral fields. During the past season development work has been advanced on about twenty properties, and there is not a single one of them which does not show larger and richer ore bodies than those to be seen at the commencement of work last fall.

The Kaslo Transportation Company carried up a load of supplies for the Whitewater mine this week. J. C. Eaton, the manager, says he will inaugurate active development work at once.

W. C. Haywood has returned to Kaslo after enjoying the breezes of Victoria for several months. He was not idle, however, for there are several big propositions which he has inaugurated, which greatly advance the interests of Kaslo.

In conversation with an Examiner reporter relative to this country, Mr. Jasper King said: "I believe the Kaslo-Slocan country will unfold greater possibilities of a mining nature than ever brought to view on the American continent. If the same improvement follows deeper development, no idea can be formed regarding the rock-bound wealth of this great silver-lead belt. Our mines here are high grade, and a very small seam will assure much wealth to mine operators and corresponding benefits to invested capital in the immediate vicinity of the great mineral field. It will not be within the realms of possibility for all the locations to develop into mines, but there will be some magnificent propositions unfolded this season that will contribute generously to the wealth of this world. The Noble five group, Freddie Lee, Washington, have their own recommendation in the shape of ore now stored in warehouse to vouch for them, and continued shipments will be their best advertisement, but there are any number of promising properties that will come to the front that the outside world knows little or nothing about. These mines have received the magic touch of development, and though this work has been performed in the 'grass root,' to use mining parlance, sufficient has been exposed to view to place them in the catagory of gilt edged properties. There are the Alamo, Idaho, Young Dominion, Queen Bess, on Hodsen creek. On Four Mile creek are the Grady and the Robinson and Reed group, Mahon's mines and the Cleveland, better known among old prospectors as the 'Galena Fame,' and the 'Lorna Doon' group, the latter being dry ore of an antimonial nature."

The anticipated stampede into the Slocan country has commenced in earnest, and people are tumbling into the camp in droves. There are now several hundred men in Spokane waiting for the opening of spring, some going for the purpose of prospecting and others to invest in mining and real estate properties or to engage in business.

NELSON.

(From the Nelson Tribune.)

Camp life has commenced around Kaslo. Scores of tents are set up on the outskirts of town and in the several coves across the bay. Many prospectors and others are on hand awaiting the time to go into the hills.

One day last week Jasper Phair caught 363 trout in Cottonwood Lake, and one day this week he downed three wild geese at one long-range off-hand shot.

About 300 people a week are arriving at Nelson and Kaslo, the latter place getting 85 per cent. of them. The Bonner's Ferry route is the favorite, owing to better time being made by way of it from Spokane than by way of Northport.

The bond given to Patsey Clark by the owner of the Josie and Number One, two Trail Creek claims, has been taken up by Mr. Clark. The price is said to be $12,000, ten per cent. cash. Assays from samples of ore taken from the Josie gave a return of $107 in gold.

Wilson Hill came down from the head of Slocan lake on Wednesday. He reports Hill Brothers & Co.'s sawmill running.

More than a hundred claims have been recorded in the area drained by the creek which flows into Slocan lake at Four Mile City. Many of these claims promise well, and several of them are already believed to be mines.

FIGHTING IN MEXICO.

Malcontents and Outlaws Rise and Engage the Regulars in Conflict.

EL PASO, Texas, April 20.—News just received from Chihuahua, Mexico, says: Amalla, a fugitive from justice in New Mexico, recently returned to his native mountain and stirred up a large force of ignorant malcontents and outlaws, and, arming them, captured the town of Temaxuchie, near Guerrero, an important mining town. Little resistance was offered, but three men were wounded and the town sacked.

Amalla then went southward towards Tomachica, and had a skirmish with the Santa Anna garrison of 300 men, who surrendered and afterward joined him. The combined forces, under the leadership of Amalla, then marched on the town of San Tomaso and captured it without resistance. The rebel then took the town of Guererrezo, which was garrisoned with volunteer troops, who surrendered without fighting.

At this point Federal troops came up and the rebels fled to San Tomaso, pursued by the regulars. The Federal troops were surprised at the latter place, and in the battle that ensued thirteen of their men were killed and many wounded. The rebels suffered very little, but the troops were completely routed. Several officers were among the killed. Reinforcements of the government troops arrived after the battle, and will attempt to defend Guerrerezo. Great excitement prevails, and further fighting is soon expected. Business is at a standstill.

When you feel all tired out and broken up generally, you need a good tonic. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best. Try it.

HAVE YOU HEADACHE?

Headache, which is usually a symptom of stomach trouble, constipation or liver complaint, can be entirely cured by B. B. B. (Burdock Blood Bitters) because this medicine acts upon and regulates the stomach, liver, bowels and blood.

If you have cold take Cubb's Cough Cure—save yourself from La Grippe. Sold in Victoria by the following respectable druggists: Geo. Morison, Thomas Shotbolt, Dean & Cryderman.

KASLO CITY

THE LEADING TOWN

OF WEST KOOTENAY, B. C.

The Growth of Kaslo during the Past Year has been one of Continued Advancement.

Everyone is now well acquainted with the wonderful strides which have been made by Kaslo City during the first year of its existence. One year ago there was scarcely a building or clearing on the Townsite. To-day there are many hundreds of Houses, Substantial Business Blocks, Sawmills, Wide and Well Graded Streets and Sidewalks, Roads and Trails to the Mines, and First-Class Transportation Facilities.

It Is the Busiest Town in Kootenay,

And it has the Brightest Future in store, for it is the Centre of the Richest Silver Mining Region of the Continent. A Railway is now under construction to the Famous Mines of the Slocan, and it is the only point in Kootenay from which ore is being shipped in quantity.

Read what that well-known and energetic mining man, J. F. Wardner, says of the Mines tributary to Kaslo.

PRODUCTION FOR THREE YEARS.

I estimate the following tonnage as the ability of the following Mines:

	Tons		Tons
Noble Five Group	50,000	Ruby Silver	25,000
Rico	50,000	Alice	25,000
Washington	50,000	Mountain Chief	25,000
Wonderful	50,000	Idaho	25,000
Freddie Lee	50,000	Alamo	25,000
Blue Bird	50,000	Great Western	25,000
Utica Consolidated	50,000	Jackson	25,000
Slocan Star	50,000	Wellington	25,000
Dardanelles Group	50,000	Cape Consolidated	10,000
Lucky Jim	25,000	Best	10,000
Reed & Robinson	25,000	Storemount	10,000
Big Bertha	25,000
Slocan Boy	25,000	Total	780,000

Any discrepancies or short-comings in tonnage will be fully made up by the Great Undiscovered. This estimate is reasonable, when we consider that in order to produce 25,000 tons of this kind of ore in three years we only have to displace five cubic feet per day. Kaslo has no rival for this business. A railroad from the nearest point on the Canadian Pacific Railroad to the great group of producers would be sixty-one (61) miles long. A railroad from Kaslo to the great group of producers will be twenty-four (24) miles long, with a grade averaging less than 2 per cent. The construction of this railroad is assured.

J. F. WARDNER.

Those who invested in Kaslo a year ago in many cases have made a thousand per cent. on their investment. Those who invest now will do equally as well, for the forces are at work which will build it into a city of many thousands of people.

MARINE MOVEMENTS.

Departure of the "Mogul"—Her Chinese Passengers Score a Point—"Puebla" Passengers.

A Dreary Outlook for the Sealers—Return of H. M. S. "Champion"—Wharf Notes.

In order to get back to Hongkong in time to catch the first shipments of tea this year, the N. P. R. steamship Mogul did not call here on her way to the Orient yesterday, and consequently the freight to have been shipped on her from this port will be held over from the steamship Victoria. As the U. S. authorities would not allow several of the Chinese to land in their territory, the Celestials had to be sent back on the Mogul.

The appended special was received by the COLONIST from Tacoma last evening: "Col. Wasson has admitted the thirty-two so-called actors on the steamer Mogul. There is much comment regarding the admission, as the proofs in many instances were very meagre. This leaves about 170 to be deported, or landed on British soil at $50 per head. The steamer Victoria, due in a few days from China, has also 215 alleged actors on board who will, of course, be landed as were the 32 to-day, as the same proofs will be offered and cannot be refused, as to-day's proceedings have established a precedent."

SEALING PROSPECTS DISMAL.

According to reports received up to date from sealing vessels, this year promises to be a most unprofitable one, especially for the schooners on the coast. The weather has so far protected seal life wonderfully and the furry animals are now getting close to Behring sea. It is hard to say just what luck the vessels will have which have gone to the Japan coast, but the general opinion is that their cruises will not be very paying. The owners of sealing craft are naturally anxious to get their indemnity from the Government, which, although allowed some time ago, has not as yet been received.

THE VOYAGE OF THE ARIETAS.

A private letter dated from Yokohama on March 26 has been received by Mr. J. Hilliard, one of the owners of the sealing schooner Arietas, from Mate Martin, of that vessel. It states that the trip across the Pacific from land to land was made in 42 days. The only accident which occurred on the voyage was the breaking of the jib-boom, which was temporarily repaired and lasted until port was made, when it was removed and a new one substituted. The letter further states that the Arietas expected to leave Yokohama for sea on March 29.

BAD WEATHER IN THE NORTH.

The C. P. N. steamer Princess Louise arrived from the North early yesterday, having experienced disagreeable weather. There have been several snow storms in the North recently, and these, mingled with rains, make it anything but pleasant travelling. Only a few passengers arrived from the North by the steamer, among them being H. Kirkland, manager of the River's Inlet cannery, R. G. Cunningham and a person who had his foot badly cut at River's Inlet, and who has come down for hospital attention. As cargo, the Louise brought a big shipment of oolachans, part of which she landed at Nanaimo on her way down.

FROM COQUIMBO.

H.M.S. Champion, Nymphe and Garnet now form the fleet of British warships riding at anchor in Esquimalt harbor, and all three are expected to remain for a month or two, so that their services may be counted upon in making the celebration of the Queen's Birthday a success. The Champion, which will probably be one of the ships assigned to patrol duty in Behring Sea during the summer arrived in port yesterday, sixty days from Caquimbo.

MALICIOUS AND UNTRUE.

The report circulated yesterday that the steamer Barbara Boscowitz struck a rock before returning to Victoria is contradicted by Capt. J. D. Warren, who had charge of the vessel. He states he went intentionally close to shore at Methlakahtla in order to effect a good landing, and if the vessel did strike anything it was the beach, which is so smooth and sandy that it could in no wise damage the vessel unless she was running at extraordinary speed.

FOR VICTORIA.

The steamship City of Puebla due here from San Francisco on Sunday has the following cabin passengers on board for Victoria: M. K. Ward, Mrs. McLean and child, Mrs. J. A. Nesbitt, Mrs. S. D. Nesbitt and child, Miss E. N. Bett, Miss F. Cook, Mrs. E. Manasses, M. D. Friend, Mrs. Goodwin, Miss Goodwin, G. W. Knowles, R. P. Ramage, Lt. Newbery and C. A. Wickham.

IN NO WAY DAMAGED.

The steam schooner Alice Blanchard, which at one time made regular trips to Victoria, and which on the 5th inst. drifted into Yaquina Bay and there went high and dry on the sand spit, has been successfully pulled off by a tug. She shews little damage from her tussel with the sand.

A SETTLEMENT POSSIBLE.

The case of the C. P. N. Co. v. the steamer Wilmington, referred to yesterday as being set down for trial in the Admiralty court on Monday next, may possibly be settled before it is called. It is understood something in this direction is now being arranged.

MARINE NOTES.

The new steam schooner building for Mr. S. L. Kelly, is expected to be launched at midnight on Monday next. All that is requiried now to make the vessel ready for the water, is to have her shaft placed in position.

The contract for the repair of the steam collier Romulus, it is expected, will be let to-day; in the meantime the Albion Iron Works employes are stripping the vessel of the damaged plates.

The steamer Island Belle sailed for New Westminster yesterday morning after discharging another carload of coal oil at this port.

Tug Comet, Capt. J. Christensen, arrived down from Vancouver yesterday.

SALISBURY'S OPINION.

The Ex-British Premier's Opinion on Irish Home Rule.

LONDON, April 20.—The annual gathering of the Conservative organization known as the Primrose League, was held yesterday in Covent Garden Theatre. Lord Salisbury delivered an address, in which he dealt with the Irish Home Rule bill. He said the financial proposal of the bill would almost bankrupt Ireland and heavily burden Great Britain, but he continued, the atrocious feature of the scheme was that the Irish members would sell their freedom for the advantage of Ireland by forcing the Government to give them what they wanted. The bill now before the House of Commons would not get rid of the Irish question, since England would be compelled to comply with the Irish demands. "The House of Lords," exclaimed Lord Salisbury, "must not be turned away from its duty by any discussions concerning its constitution, but must rescue the Empire from its assailants."

MATTERS FINANCIAL.

Disturbing Elements in the Situation and How Only It Is Possible They Can Be Remedied.

The following is condensed from Henry Clew's Financial Circular dated New York, April 15: The week in Wall street has developed some reactionary features. The sharp movement in May wheat at Chicago has suggested the possibility of trouble in the immense speculations in that staple. The revival of gold exports on a scale larger than had been expected, and the prospect of like large shipments next week, have stimulated the courage of the "bear" side, while inducing speculative holders to lighten their load. The unfavorable character of the April report of the Department of Agriculture also had a tendency to affect stocks unfavorably, especially those of the grain roads. On Thursday's market came the report of the failure of the English, Scottish, and Australian Chartered Bank of London, with $40,000,000 of liabilities; which naturally suggested the possibility of sympathetic efforts upon American securities in Europe. Simultaneously, came the information that the Governor of Nebraska had signed the "maximum rate" bill, which will have the effect of reducing rail rates 20 per cent. on the roads in that state,—a matter of no small consequence to an important group of lines. The industrial stocks have especially felt the effect of these unfavorable influences, from the fact that, being unsatisfactory as collaterals, they are subject more than other securities to sympathize with a stringent condition of the money market.

This is a somewhat serious chapter of accidents, the more felt because of their happening simultaneously. Breaks of this character are, however, to be expected so long as certain stubborn factors disturbing confidence are continued. Foremost among these is the unsettled condition of the silver problem. Until either an international agreement settles it, or the Sherman Act of 1890 is repealed, this can only be regarded as a menace to our currency system and therefore to a large proportion of our investments, with consequent danger of oscillations of foreign confidence in our securities. Under existing circumstances, the country needs to keep up its supply of gold as an offset against the large amounts of silver money we are creating; and yet our silver issues aid in driving out our gold, and, in proportion as that process expands, our credit abroad is liable to suffer and our securities there held are subject to being returned. There is here a sort of uncontrollable confusion of cause and effect, which begets indefinite apprehensions and aggravates the consequences arising from all other causes of disturbance.

It has been hoped that the outflow of gold might be checked through the revival of the exports of produce; but speculation holds back the immense value of surplus wheat, corn, cotton and provisions from export; and, so far as respects wheat, the April official crop report has encouraged the disposition to hold for higher prices. It now looks as though there might be found no way out of this speculative dead-lock except through gold being exported instead of products to such an extent as to produce a pressure in the money market that would compel holders of these products to release them for export. This hoarding of some $150,000,000 of products which ought to have been ere this largely distributed is producing very embarrassing derangements in the course of the foreign exchanges; and the country has rarely been in a condition in which it could so ill afford to stand exposed to such derangements. Had the export trade been permitted to take its natural course, we should probably have had to-day fifty millions more gold in the banks and the Treasury than we actually have; nor is that the only misfortune; we have also been compelled by these circumstances to incur a very large temporary open indebtedness to Europe, demand for the settlement of which may come upon us at any time. What can be said for the prudence of speculators who are thus piling upon their heads a pressure that may crush them at any moment?

These are disturbing elements in the situation that can be remedied in no other way than by working out their own cure. And that remedy can come only through an adjustment between the range of values on the staples specified, as between the foreign and domestic markets. There may have to be a yielding of prices on both sides of the Atlantic; but—considering, first, that we are the more dependent of the two sides, next, that our prices must be regarded as illegitimately high in view of the usual largeness of our exportable surplus at this stage of the season, and, next, that the condition of the home money market is likely to compel realizing on these samplee — in view of these facts, the probability is that most of the necessary concession will have to be made by our holders. Until this adjustment between domestic holders and foreign buyers has been effected, there can be no real confidence in the easy working of financial affairs, and the stock market must stand exposed to unsettling surprises. So soon as the World's Fair opens, public attention will be largely diverted from these disturbing conditions; and though that exhilarating excitement cannot remove the real causes of disturbance, it will prove an important influence towards neutralizing their effects upon the spirit of stock exchange operations; and the increased railroad earnings consequent upon the Fair travel will equally operate in that direction.

9-Room House (shingle roofed; Stable for 10 horses, with hay loft above; Stone Roothouse, Store Buildings, Dairy, Cow Sheds, etc., etc.

4 Miles (about) Standing Fences, in good order; Corralls, 10 miles barbed wire and staples; about 2,500 Posts on the ground, ready for use, etc., etc.

Small Lot Household Furniture, Stove and Pipes, Cooking Utensils, Crockery, etc., etc.

This Property is within easy distance of many of the most important Gold, Silver and Coal Mines in West Kootenay. The population of this district will increase this year by at least 10,000; the area of farm land is very limited, and from this it may be fairly asserted that beef and all classes of farm produce will find a ready and lucrative market. The soil is the best bottom land, and the locality is one of the few places in the Province where so large a piece of good farm land can be found in one block. A river runs through the property, and rainbow trout are plentiful and afford capital sport. Deer abound in considerable numbers. Bear, Wolf, Coyote and other large game are to be found in the hills. There are two creeks recorded and belonging to the estate, one flows all the year round. Limestone and brick clay are to be had in the valley.

The Cattle are well bred; a much larger herd could be farmed with the place. The bunch grass on the hills in the vicinity covers many thousands of acres, and is available to the few land owners in the valleys. All buildings and fences about the farm are in good order, and farming operations can be gone on with at once; about 180 acres of ploughing have been, so far, provided for this year's work.

The Climate is not severe, the land being about 1,100 feet above sea level; the station was for many years the winter quarters of the H. B. Co.'s pack trains. There is a weekly express in and out. Goods and supplies at wholesale can be procured on order and delivered in 48 hours.

The Title is by grant from the Crown, and is free of all encumbrances. Immediate possession can be given.

Important Railway works are now in progress within moderate distance, and two railway lines have been run to pass close to or through the estate, which can be reached in the spring in three days' journey from Victoria.

The South West Kootenay District, British Columbia, judging from the actual ore products of the mines this winter, is destined in the next year or two to become one of the richest and most important mineral centres in the world. Statistics show, that although the district is in its primary stage, the mines have developed ore veins rich enough to warrant the investment of over a million dollars. When these mines come to be worked systematically, there will be an Influx of Population, which will require beef and farm produce in large quantities. The limited quantity of really good farm land in the district to supply these requirements makes this

OUR JUDICIARY.

It is impossible even to guess what absurd rumors respecting the situation in British Columbia are in circulation in the East, but we infer from our special telegram from Ottawa that the space liar has been at work and has succeeded in deceiving most egregrously at least one newspaper editor. Nothing has happened in the Province to give the slightest ground for the editor of the Ottawa Free Press to comment upon "the refusal of the British Columbia judges to hold courts on the Mainland." The editor of the Free Press and all other editors east and west, north and south, may make themselves sure that the judges of British Columbia will perform their duties both on the Island and the Mainland faithfully and fearlessly. They are the last men in the Dominion to be influenced either by the chatter of demagogues or the jealousies of sections. They have hitherto shown themselves to be superior to party strifes and local quarrels, and we are perfectly convinced that they will continue to do their very important work wherever duty calls them, irrespective of any agitation that may happen to exist in the Province. We are proud to say that not even the suspicion of political bias has attached to any judge on the British Columbia Bench. Men of all parties and all classes in this Province know perfectly well that no political or religious or social prejudice has the slightest weight with the judges of this Province. They invariably do justice to the best of their ability without fear, favor or affection. We do not say that they are alway right, but we do say that they are invariably honest and conscientious. If, therefore, our Ottawa contemporary is under the impression that British Columbia judges have been deterred by fear, or prevented by party or sectional feeling from holding courts at the proper time on the Mainland or anywhere else it is laboring under a strange and strong delusion. As a matter of fact nothing with respect to the judges and the courts of law in the Province has lately happened out of the usual course, and such a contingency as the Free Press speaks of is as certain as anything can be, never to occur.

OFFENDING INEBRIATES.

Many of those who have attended the police courts of cities must have often seen with pity and regret men and women whose only offence was the too free indulgence in intoxicating drink sent to the common jail to associate with depraved offenders of all kinds. The effects of such association must be most deplorable, for, as all men and women of experience know, the appetite for stimulants and the inability to restrain it are not always indications of general demoralization. Many persons who are unable to control that appetite—or at any rate who do not control it—are, when sober, in other respects estimable, and some, sad to say, highly gifted. They would not do a mean or a dishonest act for all they ever saw, and they shrink with disgust from contact with coarse, low and vicious people. The effect of compulsory association with the criminal class on such unfortunates is most lamentable. It takes from them what self-respect they still possess, and it hastens the moral and intellectual demoralization which excessive drinking is sure to bring on. Philanthropists who have observed the evils that follow treating men who get into trouble when they are drunk, and merely because they are drunkards, have tried to find out some way of treating them separately from ordinary criminals. A bill has been introduced into the two branches of the Legislature of New York to authorize the purchase of land for the purpose of founding an inebriates' colony. "Offenders who are guilty of drunkenness not accompanied by distinct crime are to be sent to this place and subjected to a course of really corrective discipline, including regular and sufficient labor, while every effort will be made to prevail upon them to give up their vicious habit. Naturally the percentage of recoveries, if we may use the term, will not be large, but whatever it is, it will be clear gain. And if no good is done, at least there is the inestimable advantage over the present barbarous and wicked method that there is no harm done. With good management a colony of this sort may be of incalculable benefit."

Where it is impossible to establish a colony of this kind, could not something be done during the period of incarceration to separate those whose only offence is that they drink too much from those who are in the proper sense of the term criminals?

A SINGULAR CONTENTION.

It is very evident that the American counsel before the Behring Sea Arbitration have given up all attempt to uphold the claim of the United States to exclusive jurisdiction over part of Behring Sea, and have confined themselves to the contention that that nation has a property in the seals that are bred in Alaskan territory. It may be that from their point of view they are wise in doing this, for if they can convince the arbitrators that the United States owns the seals that swim in the eastern section of Behring Sea and off the west coast of North America, their trying to establish a claim to sovereignty over that sea would be a mere waste of labor. Mr. Carter's contention that the fur seals are not ferae naturae—mere wild creatures—but animals cared for and nurtured by the United States, and therefore in the fullest sense its property, is a very singular one. It would seem that a nation has as good a right to claim the fish that are hatched from spawn deposited on its territory or to the wild fowl bred in its forests and swamps as the United States has to the seals which are presumed first to see light on the islands of Behring's sea. These animals have no mark to show who owns them. The mere circumstance of their being fur seals and found in the North Pacific ocean, is, in the opinion of the American lawyers, enough to show that they belong to the United States. If this claim is allowed it will follow that no one, except he has permission from the American Government, will dare to kill a fur seal, no matter where it may wander. As it is not lawful for a man to kill a horse or cow or pig, belonging to his neighbor, found straying on his land, so, if the American claim is allowed, no British subject will be permitted to kill one of Uncle Sam's seals on the high seas or even in British waters. When we see all that this contention involves, we are not surprised that Mr. Carter is so earnest and eloquent and that he spends so much time in pressing it. It would be presumptuous in us even to conjecture what the decision of the arbitration will be, but if it is favorable to the American contention it will give rise to a state of things the like of which is, we venture to say, not to be found on all the broad earth.

TURBULENCE VICTORIOUS.

The riotous Belgians have gained their point. While they paraded the streets in thousands and in the most threatening manner surrounded the Parliament buildings when the members were deliberating or attempting to deliberate, the universal suffrage law was passed. Was it wise under such circumstances to grant the request of the rioters? Should not the authorities have insisted upon quiet being restored before the representatives of the people proceeded with their work? It may be said that a revolution would have followed if the Government had taken this stand, but has not what has happened been a revolution of the worst and most dangerous kind. When the constituted authorities act under compulsion, when they give way before threats and turbulent demonstrations, do they not give an encouragement to violence and sedition that may make free government an impossibility? For instance, will not the Belgian mob, having found that the measures they have just resorted to have been efficacious—that they have been able to get by clamor and a display of force what would not have been granted to an orderly petition—be certain, when they want something else very badly, to resort to the same means to obtain it. It is well known that a very large proportion of those who demanded universal suffrage in such a riotous way are Socialists. It will not, therefore, be very difficult to prevail upon such a mob to demand something of the Legislature which it ought not to grant. When the crowd which has just achieved a signal victory see the authorities hesitating, will they not quickly use the same means of constraint which they had before found so effective? It is quite probable that the Government will be in no better position to resist the demand of the populace than they were the other day. If they give in they will take another step towards Anarchy, and if they resist, resistance will be all the more difficult on account of the previous surrender. If a popular demand is just and calculated to promote the general welfare it should be acceded to without violent agitation, but when once a display of force is made, when the mob shows a disposition to coerce the authorities, concession while that display lasts is only an indication of weakness, and will act on the riotous as an incentive to ask for more.

It may be said that it is easy from a distance to say what ought to be done, but that it is not so easy to do the right thing when the danger is imminent. This is very true. But the spectator at a distance often sees the tendency of acts and events better than those who are engaged in the movement that brings them about. Besides there are principles which, when acted upon, always produce similar results, whether in a humble household or a great nation. It may be that the Belgian Government was so situated that it could not have acted differently from what it did, but this fact does not prevent its action producing the lamentable results which, in all human probability, will be sure to follow it. It seems to us that that Government had a choice of evils and that it chose the greater.

THE RUSSIAN TREATY.

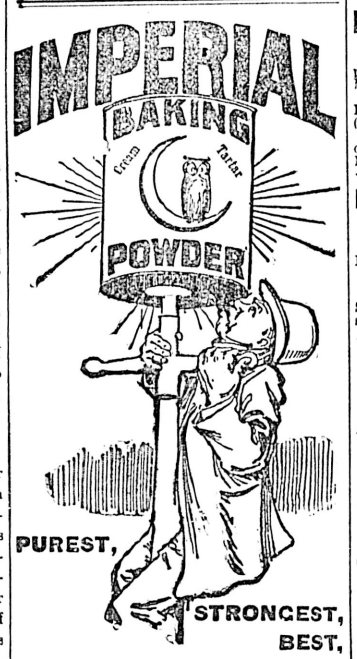

There are many Americans who are strongly opposed to the extradition treaty negotiated between the United States and Russia being confirmed. The reason of this opposition is that they are convinced that persons extradited under it for an attempt on the life of the Czar, would not, in Russia, receive what Americans regard as a fair trial. The Russian definition of this crime is, in the first place, so wide as to include a large class of political offenders, to whom the United States has always been proud to extend the privilege of asylum. Then the mode of criminal procedure in Russia, particularly for offences supposed to be political, is secret, and so different from that of the United States, that it is generally believed by Americans that to deliver up a man accused of such an offence to the Russian authorities, whether he is guilty or innocent, is practically to condemn him to death or to a punishment which they regard as not by any means less terrible. These United States citizens are naturally averse to making their Government an instrument of Russian oppression. The American people have been appealed to in the most earnest manner by Russian exiles to do what they can to prevent the treaty becoming operative, and there are many indications that these appeals are producing the intended effect. It is said, too, that the Russian treaty contains provisions that are not to be found in any treaty for a similar purpose entered into with any other foreign power.

THE CITY.

Stealing an Overcoat.

James Shea was in the city police court yesterday, charged with the larceny of an overcoat from the premises of B. Williams & Co., on Johnson street. The case was adjourned until this morning, and the police have now a strong case against the prisoner.

A Financial Success.

The gross receipts from Wednesday evening's production of "Our Boys" in aid of the Jubilee Hospital and Samaritan Home totalled $339 50, and it is expected that after meeting all liabilities the treasurer of the company will be able to present a check for $75 to each of the charities interested.

To the Higher Court.

The verdict of $15 000 damages against the Seattle Consolidated Street Railway Co., secured by the wife of Frank I. Sears, formerly of this city, has been affirmed by the Supreme court of Washington. School Districts.

The last issue of the Gazette announces the creation of a number of new school districts, among them the districts of Armstrong, Bowen Island, Ferndale, Glenvally, Highland, Kaslo, Kelowna, Malahat, and South Vancouver, and the re-defining of the districts of Burton's Prairie, English, Lansdowne, Mission, Round Prairie, Steveston and Spallumcheen.

It is expected to present some interesting papers for discussion.

Death of W. M. Macdonald.

The death is announced, at the Jubilee Hospital yesterday morning, of Captain William M. Macdonald, for many years in the Hudson's Bay Co.'s service, and one of the pioneer pilots of British Columbia. The late Mr. Macdonald was a native of Inverness, fifty-six years of age, and leaves a family of four to mourn for him—three sons and one daughter. The funeral is arranged to take place to-morrow.

Queen's Birthday Celebration.

The general committee in connection with the Queen's Birthday celebration will meet in the City Hall this evening, for organization and the transaction of preliminary business. The manner in which the sporting organizations of the city have responded to the invitation to appoint representatives on committee shows that very general interest is taken in the celebration It is hoped that all members of the committe will make it a point to attend this evening.

The City of Kamloops.

The incorporation of the city of Kamloops is formally announced by proclamation in yesterday's issue of the B.C. Gazette, which defines the limits of the new municipality and fixes the date of nominating the first city council, to consist of a mayor and five alderman, for June 17, 1893. The first meeting of the council is to be held on the second Monday after the election, at Raven's hall, and at the first meeting clerk, treasurer, collector and assessor, and other municipal officers, are to be elected.

The New Government Buildings.

During the past few weeks Mr. F. M. Rattenbury, the architect for the new Government buildings, has been busily employed in perfecting his specifications, and the result of his labor is now apparent. Yesterday's Gazette contains a notice to contractors bearing the signature of Deputy Commissioner W. S. Gore, inviting sealed tenders for the excavating, granite, stone and brick work required in the erection of the foundations and basement for the administrative block of the new Parliament buildings in this city, "together with other works incidental thereto." The plans and specifications will be on view at the Lands and Works Department until Wednesday, May 3, and the time for receiving tenders will expire at 1 p m. of Saturday, May 27.

Duly Incorporated.

Loyal Fernwood lodge No. 178, C O O F., M.U., have taken advantage of the provisions of the Benevolent Societies Act to secure incorporation, in pursuance of a resolution of the lodge passed on the 7th inst. The present elective officers are: Stephen F. McIntosh, N.G.; Robert Carter, V.G.; George E. Wilkerson, Rec. Sec; and W. F. Fullerton; their successors on the expiration of their term of office will be elected in the usual manner. The purposes for which the lodge has secured incorporation are thus set forth:

"To make provision, by means of contributions, subscriptions, donations, or otherwise, against sickness, unavoidable misfortune, or death, and for relieving the widows and orphan children of members deceased, and for such other purposes as are consistent with the Benevolent Societies Act, 1891."

San Francisco Coal Market.

J. W. Harrison writes with reference to the present condition of the coal trade:

"During the week there have been arrivals from the coast mines aggregating 18,935 tons, and from Newcastle 2,896 tons. Much activity was displayed during the week in sales of cargoes of foreign coals to arrive; the arrivals of English and Australian so far this year have been exceptionally small, resulting in very light stocks here in yard. Computing the amount here, and the amount to arrive in the next thirty days, the market will be almost bare of some grades. Wholesalers seem to have simultaneously become aware of this fact, and there has been no difficulty in placing cargoes now afloat at a marked advance over last week's quotations. There has been more vitality to trade this week than for months past. It is a singular coincidence that inward coal freights and outward grain freights should at the same time improve, which is now happening. It is true that the two combined leave barely running expenses to the carriers. Some of our large consumers who have been postponing their purchases for future delivery to meet their requirements, may regret their delay, as this is not a desirable port for ships to seek, unless they receive a fair remuneration for carrying coal.

Injured by a Fall.

George Moss, a baker employed in the establishment at the corner of Blanchard and Johnson streets, fell down the cellar steps last evening, with such serious results that he was unconscious for about five hours. The doctors in attendance think, however, that he will soon be none the worse for his fall.

Music For the Park.

The animated discussion on the Sabbath observance question prevented the Board of Aldermen from accepting the kind offer of C Battery band to give free concerts in the Market hall, when the subject came up on Wednesday evening. It is understood, however, that the matter will be brought up again, and some arrangement made for securing the music.

Left Her Without Support.

Mrs. Bates, of this city, returned last evening from Vancouver, where she went to hunt up her husband, who had left her without support. She sought the assistance of the Terminal city police, and Officer O'Grady was detailed to hunt the man up, and succeeded in finding him. He is working as a teamster, but it is said refuses to give his wife any money, although he is represented as being tolerably well fixed. The case will probably reach the courts. Mrs. Bates has a family here.

The Quarantine Buildings.

Messrs. Bishop & Sherbourne, of this city, have secured the contract for the erection of the quarantine buildings at Williams Head, the price being stated as between $10,000 and $11,000. The buildings will be of stone, brick and lumber, and cover a space about 90 by 150 feet. There will be a main building two stories high, with one story wings. The contract for the doctor's residence has been awarded to Mr. Macfarlane, of this city, the amount being about $5,000. Work on both contracts will be proceeded with immediately.

A Criminal Nuisance.

From James Bay, Fort street, and in fact every quarter of the city come reports of petty pilfering; the flower thieves continue their work of appropriation and destruction. Not content with securing the choice flowers, often imported at great expense and tended with careful attention, the thieves now make bold to break or uproot what it does not suit them to carry away. No place is sacred from them, for complaints are again made that several graves in Ross Bay cemetery have been plundered, during the past week or two, of the flowers placed upon them by loving hands. The police are of the opinion, and have reason for the belief, that the offenders in the majority of instances are school children who have acquired the habit of taking a bouquet "for teacher"—presumably as a peace offering. If teachers in the public schools would respectfully decline all presents of this nature, for a time at least, it would materially reduce the number of flower robberies.

Emmanuel Baptist Church.

Messrs. Thomas Haughton, Dudley P. Pickard, W. H. Spofford, J. H. Adams and A. E. Westcott, trustees of Emmanuel Baptist church, Spring Ridge, have applied for and secured incorporation under the Benevolent Societies Act, the corporate name adopted being "The Emmanuel Baptist church (Victoria)" and the purposes and objects of the association being "to do the work of Jesus Christ, constituted as a Baptist church, according to the Articles of Faith laid down in the Star Book on Baptist Church Polity (by Rev. E. T. Hiscox, D. D.), and to acquire and hold for the use and benefit of the society, either by purchase, donation, devise, or otherwise, all kinds of real and personal property, and to erect and provide buildings for church, school, or such other purposes (not being repugnant to the primary object) as the society shall from time to time deem fit." The present trustees hold office until their successors are appointed at the annual meeting next March.

The Boundary Commission.

The Dominion steamer Quadra is being made ready for her trip to the North with Prof. King and the British boundary commission party, who it is expected will bid Victoria good bye early next week. The American steamers Hassler and Patterson are hourly expected and on their arrival the arrangement of the plan of campaign will be promptly completed. It has been decided that Mr. Robertson, of the Canadian force, will accompany the American party working from the Stickeen river, while Mr. Driscoll, the member of Prof. King's company hailing from Chilukweyuk, (vulgarly pronounced Chilliwhack) goes with the Taku river outfit. It is not likely that the explorers during their absence will penetrate the country more that the ten marine leagues inland, in the first case because it would be unnecessary labor, and in the second because they cannot travel far from the base of supplies. The commissioners have plenty of time to fully consider and digest the information obtained by the joint expedition, as they are not required to present their report until November, 1894, two years from their preliminary meeting at Ottawa.

Programme Presented for the Grand Assault-at-Arms to Open the New Drill Hall.

Westminster Cricketers and Vancouver 'Cyclists Reorganize for a Busy Season.

The committee in connection with the assault-at-arms to inaugurate the new drill hall held their first meeting last night, Lieut. Ross Monro in the chair, and Staff-Sergt. The first subject considered was the class nights, and it was decided that the batteries should meet separately, in place of all on the one evening. No. 4 will meet on Mondays, No. 2 on Tuesdays, and No. 3 on Wednesdays. The class leaders will receive their instruction on Thursdays. On Fridays the beginners will be advanced by themselves. After the first four nights of instruction the leaders are to choose the men best adapted to take part in each of the classes. The executive committee of the Victoria Junior Cricket Club met last evening, when a constitution was drawn up and other business transacted. Numerous matches are being arranged, and a most enjoyable season is looked for. The following gentlemen have kindly consented to become patrons of the club, viz: Hon. C. E. Pooley, Lieut.-Col. Prior and Dr. J. D. Helmcken. A full practice will be held to-morrow afternoon, when teams will be chosen on the field.

THE TURF.

DERBY SWEEPSTAKES.

The British Columbia Derby Sweepstakes guaranteed by Messrs. Jackson and Stevenson, proprietors of the Delmonico and Bodega, of this city, is being largely patronized by subscribers from all parts of Canada and many cities of the American side. The Derby Sweepstakes, organized in Montreal, for many seasons past have been extensively subscribed to by local sportsmen, but so far the winning horses have failed to find owners in British Columbia. The drawing will take place at the Delmonico hotel on the 29th of next month, and will be in public, and conducted and supervised by two prominent citizens to ensure fair play to all parties, and any one holding the ticket that draws the favorite horse for this year's race will have little difficulty of disposing of his chance for $1,500 should he feel inclined. A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush, and the one who draws the favorite will find a dozen people ready to buy it from him. Messrs. Jackson & Co., bookmakers and commission agents, have opened a big book on this year's race, and as they receive the latest betting quotations by cable, their patrons can rely upon getting full prices up to date.

THE WHEEL.

TERMINAL CITY WHEELMEN IN LINE.

VANCOUVER, April 2.—(Special)—The Vancouver Cycling club last night elected the following officers: Honorary Presidents, F. C. Cotton, M. P. P., J. C. McLagan and C. D. Rand; President, J. Membership fees were reduced from $2 per year to $1. Messrs. Boak and Gintzburger were appointed delegates to the meeting on April 29, to organize a Provincial association. Club runs will be started this year, and several meets will be held.

THE REFEREE'S REPORT

On the Various Plans Offered for the New British Columbia Protestant Orphans' Home.

Ceremonies at the Laying of the Corner Stone—The Matter of Furnishing Discussed.

A meeting of the managers of the Protestant Orphans' Home was held last evening; President F. H. Worlock occupied the chair, the others present being: Right Rev. Bishop Cridge, Messrs. James Hutcheson (treasurer), Charles Hayward (secretary), P. R. Brown, N. Shakespeare, Henry Jewell and the honorary secretary of the Ladies' committee, Mrs. G. A. Sargison. After prayers by Bishop Cridge and the disposal of routine business, the Building committee presented a voluminous report, embracing a full account of the steps taken in calling for competitive plans and the award made in accordance with the following report of Mr. R. Mackay Fripp, the referee:

Report on designs submitted in competition for the British Columbia Protestant Orphans' Home, Victoria, B. C.:

After a minute examination of the seventeen sets of drawings in question, and a careful comparison of those with the conditions of the competition and with Mr R Owen Allsop's reports and sketches, I consider that Nos. 13, 6 and 11 (thirteen, six and eleven) most nearly conform to these requirements, and should be awarded first, second and third premiums, respectively; under certain conditions as to cost, hereinafter alluded to.

No 13 certainly affords the most complete accommodation of any of the designs submitted, so complete, indeed, that I fear it cannot be carried into execution for the stipulated sum of $20 000. The arrangement of the different departments and the means afforded of superintending each are excellent; the external treatment, though lacking architectural character, is still sufficiently dignified.

No. 6.—This is the most picturesque of the designs and admirably suited to the fine site, and possesses an architectural and artistic interest that is wanting in the conception of most of the others; the architect has merely given the amount of accommodation possible for the sum at his disposal. The planning of the different departments, the central position of the dining hall and the seperation of the boys' domitories are all that could be desired, the latrine arrangements are ample and well considered; whereas, in many of the designs the children must perform their ablutions down stairs, no provision being made for this requirement on the chamber floors. The aggregate amount of accommodation is very considerably less than is shown in No. 13.

No. 11, in my opinion, is entitled to third place. The cost has been almost too carefully considered and the accommodation is consequently somewhat restricted by this desire not to exceed, and lavatory and latrine conveniences on the first floor are utterly inadequate, but the departments are well consibered and arranged; an air of homelike comfort and small conveniences pervading the whole

I would suggest that the Committee place No. 13, first, conditional on the author proving the correctness of his estimate by the test of actual tender; and should it be shown that his design cannot be carried into execution within the prescribed limit, then No. 6 shall take the first premium, No. 11 (eleven) the second and No. 7 (seven) the third premium, No. 7 to be placed fourth in the meantime. Many, indeed nearly all, of the remaining designs appear to have been prepared with little regard to the conditions and limit of cost. No. 1, for instance, is a set of colored drawings; No. 2 shows no school or class rooms and has infirmary on the first floor; No. 4 places the infirmary in the attic; No. 5 appears to have been designed without any regard to the limit; in No. 7 the Infants department is disjointed, the dormitories are not sufficiently under control and the lavatories are inadequate; in No. 8a the infirmary adjoins the girls' play room; No. 8b is ill considered throughout, passages to the lavatories are dark and awkward, and here also an infirmary is shown in the attic; No. IX. sends colored drawings, 1" scale details, in direct contravention of the conditions, and omits board and teachers rooms, lavatories on the first floors and teachers lavatories throughout; No. 10 shows a capital little isolated ward, quite a model but the plans of the Home show badly lighted boys' dormitory and such insufficient sleeping accommodation that the author proposes to place two children in a bed; No. XII. sends good plans, but shows the inattention to lavatories, etc., that prevails almost throughout; the building, too, is obviously excessive in size; one of the designs has a frontage of more than 220 feet, and others occupy nearly as much

The committee's report also contained the full particulars of the tenders received and the award of the contract to McGregor & Jeeves for $20,310 for the completion of the building by October 1.

On motion the report was received and the action of the committee endorsed.

The treasurer reported the receipt of over $400 from S. M. Robins, of Nanaimo, being the amount collected for the orphanage in Nanaimo. The donation was received with thanks.

A special committee was appointed to arrange for appropriate ceremonies at the laying of the foundation stone.

A report from the ladies' committee in the matter of furnishing the new building was laid on the table for further consideration.

The meeting was adjourned at 10 o'clock, the benediction being pronounced by Bishop Cridge.

THE EVIDENCE CONCLUDED.

Adams v. McBeath Nearing the End of the Present Trial.

The work of taking evidence in the case Adams v. McBeath, now a cause celebre, was concluded about 6 p.m. yesterday. Argument by counsel will be heard on Monday next. The case for the plaintiff will then be presented by the Attorney-General and that of the defendant by Mr. E. V. Bodwell, His Lordship having decided to hear only one counsel on each side, although Hon. Mr. Davie expressed his willingness to have both Mr. Bodwell and Mr. Fell appear for the defence if they so wished.

Yesterday's proceedings were interesting, and were watched carefully by the largest audience that has yet attended. Isaac Modeland was recalled when the court opened at 11 o'clock, the Attorney-General immediately commencing the cross-examination. The witness, defendant's brother-in-law, stated that McBeath visited Seaforth to marry his (witness) sister. Witness was in Victoria employed as an engineer, and living with McBeath in 1883, and used then to visit Adams whenever he found it convenient until he returned last in 1884. During the year he estimated that he had seen Adams four or five times, and when he returned to Victoria in 1886 he again took up his abode at McBeath's and used to see Adams just as frequently as before. Never saw anyone but Mrs. McAeath at Adams' house. The cross examination then continued:—

Q When did you get married? Surely you can tell us the date?

A. No, I don't know; I can't tell exactly. (Laughter.)

Q. Tell us somewhere about it. We want to see what sort of a memory you have. Were you married in the summer or in the winter?

Witness replied: I was married in the spring and came out here in March, remaining here until 1892. I used to go and see Adams just the same, but I never saw anyone there. Mr. McBeath also continued going there; I used to go with him, but he went lots of times I knew nothing about. I never heard Mr. Adams say he was going to come and live with the McBeaths, but I heard Mrs. McBeath say that a short time before he was taken sick and also before that. How long before that it was talked of I don't know. I swear I heard nothing about it in 1883, but I won't swear I did not hear of it in 1886. The last time I heard of it was before Adams was taken sick, but I didn't make an enquiries about it, and they made no preparation for him at the house. I have heard Adams say he intended to leave all his property to McBeath—that he was a fine man. Adams told me this a number of times, and I heard McBeath and his wife speak of it.

Q. It was a generally understood thing all round?

A. It was just like this, he used to state that McBeath was a good friend of his and everything he had he would leave to him.

Witness continued: I have heard the old man talk about his sister.

Q Everything was to go to McBeath, leaving the sister out altogether?

A. This was after the sister died.

Witness continued: I don't know whether he spoke of his sister before she died or not. All he told me was that he had a sister and she had died. When I used to go down so frequently to see the old man he used to talk about things he had seen in the newspaper and so forth. He was a good man for talking about his travels.

Q. Now, in saying that he was going to come and live at McBeath's, did he say what his object was?

A. Well, he was getting old and he talked as if when he could not manage things himself he would go down there and live.

Q. He had been talking this way for years?

A. Yes: when he was old.

Witness continued: The first I knew of his coming to McBeath's, was when I went home and found him there on Tuesday, November 10. He was in hopes of getting around again, and I did not hear that it was a serious case. When I went to work next morning, the old man was in bed, next day I came home after 6 o'clock. Adams was still in bed. Mr. Hall came that night. I was in the kitchen with Mrs. Modeland and Mrs. McBeath, I heard Mr. Hall read a document over to Mr. Adams. They called me in after part of a sentence had been read. Mr. Hall stopped and said to Adams: "Can you hear?" He said yes. When I was sitting out at the table, I could hear the will being read very distinctly.

Q. Did Mr. Hall say to Mr. Adams, "are you well satisfied with the will?"

A. Mr. Hall had nothing to do with it; Mr. Adams said so.

Q He said so without Mr. Hall saying anything?

A. Yes, he said he was well satisfied with what had been read by Mr. Hall.

Witness continued: Adams said this ought to have been done before; that he was glad it was done now.

Q. Did Adams say anything else?

A. Yes, he said "You sign that will."

Q. Anthing else?

A. Yes; he said "This will is to be drawn out in Mr. McBeath's favor."

Q. Are you sure it was Adams who asked you to witness this will?

A. Yes.

Witness continued—I did not say yesterday that McBeath told me to witness the will, or that Mr. Hall told me I had better sign it. Mr. Hall did not ask any questions that I know of. Mr. Hall read the will and signed it and shoved it over to me and I signed it. Mr. Hall asked Mr. Adams if he was satisfied the way the will was drawn. The old man said yes. That is all that occurred that I mind of. At this time the old gentleman was eating heartily and looking well I did not observe a change in him until within a short time of his death, about thirty-six hours, I think, or two days before his death. He talked quite freely and would call us by name. There didn't seem to be much the matter with him and I expected he would get well. The night after the will was signed McBeath sat up with Adams. When Adams was asleep he slept soundly and when he was awake he was clear enough and readily recognized anyone. He complained of headache occasionally. I was with Adams when he died He was clear the night before. On Sunday night he asked me if I thought he would get better and I told him no. Some time after Adams' death I was sent up to the house to prepare it. McBeath did not go up that I know of.

Q. Was it you that found these books and papers produced, or was it McBeath?

A. I found them.

Q. Are you quite sure you never burned any papers?

A. Yes. If I may never move from this box I did not burn any papers.

Q. Is everything you have been telling us as true as that?.

A. Yes, I am not in the habit of telling lies.

Witness continued: It was Sunday night I told the old man he was going to die. I went to the funeral and was in the same carriage with Mr. Moffatt, but I don't remember him asking me anything about the will. I will swear positively that neither Mr. Moffatt nor anyone else asked me anything about the will.

Re direct by Mr. Fell: When Mr. Hall had read part of the will I was in the kitchen. McBeath called me in. Mr. Hall then continued his reading.

Q. Did he continue to read or did he commence again?

A. He commenced again—I don't know if he commenced again or went on.

Witness continued: The dead man's ability to hear did not depend upon the distance he was away, but on the tone of the voice. When Mr. Hall read the will he was standing close to Adams, but could have got closer if he wanted to.

Q. Was there anything said about a future will?

The Attorney-General objected and the court ruled against the question.

Witness continued: Adams said after the will was read, "Can I alter this if I get better?" and Mr. Hall said, "Yes, you can alter it now if you want to." I don't say that the alleged conversations took place, but I don't remember them, and if they had taken place I think I would have remembered them.

Mrs. Isaac Modeland deposed: I came to Victoria on March 27, 1891, from Seaforth, and went to McBeath's. I knew Mr. Adams, first making his acquaintance in April, 1891, when I went up with Mrs. McBeath. Adams was at the house four or five times during the summer. I was at his house twice but he was not at home. He did not seem to have any business but just came to see Mrs. McBeath. When he was sick last time, I saw him in McBeath's house on Tuesday, November 10. He was feeble but did not appear to be very sick. He talked as sensible as I ever heard him, just the same as usual. Next day I went into the room and he asked if Mr. McBeath was at home, and I said no, we didn't expect him home until night. I asked him if he was feeling worse and wanted to see Mr. McBeath. He said no. Then I came out and Mrs. McBeath went in. When she came out she asked me if I would go up to Muirhead's and get Mr. McBeath. I went up about 1 o'clock and Mr. McBeath came back some time between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. McBeath went into the room and I remained in the kitchen, the door being open. I heard Adams tell Mr. McBeath to go for a lawyer, as he wanted to make a will. Mr. McBeath asked him if he wanted any particular lawyer, and the old man said no, to get anyone he wished to get. Then Mr. McBeath went down town.

Mr. Bodwell wanted the story repeated.

The Attorney-General objected to this method of leading the witness.

Mr. Bodwell held that it was quite usual to do this in a case where the witness had omitted something.

The Attorney-General pointed out that this was just where the evil of the proceedure was apparent. Here was a witness palpably told there was an omission. He asked that the witness retire while the discussion was going on.

The witness retired, and after argument was brought back again, and repeated the story without variation. She continued: After Mr. McBeath had talked to Mr. Adams, he went down town and came back with Mr. Hall, who went into the room. Mr. McBeath said: "I have brought Mr. Hall the lawyer, and he has the will made out." I was sitting at the table in the kitchen and heard the will read. It said that the property was to go to Mr. McBeath. My husband was called into the room, and after it was over, I heard Mr. Adams say he was satisfied, and that this ought to have been done sooner. I sat up that night with Mr. Adams. He did not talk very much, but seemed to be all right. He was quite sensible up to Saturday, when he began to get worse. On Sunday he was worse. Mr. and Mrs. McBeath sat up with him until midnight, then Mr. Modeland and I sat up until five o'clock next morning. After Monday at dinner I don't think he ever spoke. He seemed to know us but could not speak. Tuesday night he did not talk. He had laid in a sort of sleep all day. I know Mrs. Glebe, and was up at the house the day she moved in. I saw a fire burning but don't know who lit it. I saw no letters in the house.

To the Court: I did not open the cupboard to see if there was anything in it.

Cross examined by the Attorney-General: When Mr. Hall came to the house we were sitting at the kitchen table. My husband was asked to come in after the will was read through. The door was open and I heard all that went on distinctly. I first made up my mind on Sunday night that the old gentleman would not get well, and Mrs. McBeath went for a clergyman. She went to the Victoria West church. The minister did not come.

Mr. Bodwell: Like the rest of these charitable people who take an interest in the thing now that the man is dead, but didn't come when it was necessary.

Re direct by Mr. Bodwell: There was never any objection to allowing any one who wished to see Adams. The minister did not come on Monday, but we expected him all day. Mr. Adams never showed any dislike to any one of us, but on the contrary was thankful for the attention he received.

To the Court: We, in the kitchen, could hear everything that went on in the bedroom while Mr. Hall was there.

The Court adjourned for luncheon at 1:45 p.m.

James Hastie was called after luncheon. He deposed: I have known Samuel Adams since 1880 or 1881. He was then living in Jeffrey's cabins, his neighbors being Boyd and McBeath. I have seen Boyd and McBeath there many times. They were intimate friends. I have also seen them taking walks together, and have met them up the Gorge on holidays and Sundays. I have had conversations with Adams. I never went to see him so far as I can remember that he did not ask how Mac was, meaning McBeath. At different times he told me of a sister in Australia and of a relative in Ireland, but did not say if the one in Ireland was a man or a woman. Adams was a very independent man. He would never receive anything from anybody for which he did not want to give an equivalent. He never mentioned money matters to me. I did not see much of him the last year. I saw him at McBeath's the Thursday previous to his death. Mrs. McBeath, Mr. Modeland and I think Mrs. Modeland were there at the time. I went into the room; he was lying with his eyes closed. I spoke to him and he knew me at once. He said "Oh, Jim, I have been very bad." I lifted him up for a moment but the pain was so bad he wanted to lie down again. His mind seemed at that time perfectly clear and he understood all I said and replied in the same way as he had always done.

Cross-examined by the Attorney-General: During the last year of his life he appeared to be suffering a good deal from rheumatism, principally in his hands. In previous years he was a hale, healthy man for one at his time of life. I don't remember when he first commenced to complain. I never heard the old man speak of his nephews. I can't say when I last saw Adams and McBeath walking together, but it was in recent years. Adams was slightly deaf. I would consider I was a friend of Adams.

Re direct by Mr. Bodwell: I was not the same kind of friend as McBeath. From my conversation with Adams I would consider he had an interest in McBeath. He had a friendly interest in Mrs. McBeath, so much so that he gave me the impression he might leave something to her.

To the Attorney-General: I cannot recall the words of the conversations which gave me the impression. I have known McBeath for a good many years. He and I came from the same place in Ontario and were acquainted for six yeers before coming here.

P. A. Babbington deposed: I work at Muirhead & Mann's, and have known McBeath since 1879 or 1880. I also knew Adams, who used to come down to the factory sometimes on business, and sometimes to enquire for McBeath, with whom he would have friendly conversations.

Cross-examined by the Attorney-General: Whether he came to the mill on business or not he would enquire for McBeath. He used to buy frequently, and used to come with an express wagon. He used to bring Barrett down. He (Barrett) would select the lumber and Adams would pay for it.

R. A. Cunningham, bookkeeper for W. J. Jeffree, deposed: Have known McBeath and Adams for some years. They appeared to be very friendly from 1879-80 to November, 1881. From what I know of Adams I should call him a strong minded man, who if he said a thing would carry it through.

J. E. Phillips deposed: I have known Adams for ten or eleven years. Adams and McBeath appeared to be friendly. Adams talked about his sister, but never mentioned nephews.

Cross-examined by the Attorney-General: The supposition of friendliness is based on McBeath's visits to Adams and on my conversations with Adams.

C. Wilson and the witness Phillips gave evidence as to the extent of Adams' deafness, and Wilson having admitted that there was some unfriendly feeling between himself and Kirsop, it was announced that the case for the defense was closed.

Thomas Moffatt was recalled by the Attorney-General. He said: "I was a pallbearer at the funeral of Samual Adams and rode in a carriage with Mr Modeland, Mr. McDonald and another man."

Mr. Bodwell objected to the witness giving testimony to controvert the evidence of another witness, who had been cross-examined on a matter not relevant to the issue.

The Attorney-General: The question I wish to ask is directly relevant to the issue.

The court decided to admit the evidence.

Thomas Moffatt continued: I had a conversation with Mr. Modeland and asked him if Adams had made a will. He said yes, that he made it on Friday. I asked him if he was competent to make the will then. He said, "Yes; Friday was the only day he was competent since he came to McBeath's."

William McDonald, re-called, said: I was at the funeral of Adams and was in the carriage with Moffatt, Modeland and another man. I heard a conversation between Moffatt and Modeland about the will. I said something about wondering if the old man made a will. Modeland said he did. Mr. Moffatt said "that is all right if he was in a condition to make it." Modeland said, "Yes, he was as sensible as I am now." Then he said that was the only time that he was sensible while he was there—that is, the evening the will was signed.

This closed the case, and the court adjourned until Monday next, at 11 o'clock, when argument of counsel will be heard.

CHINA SILK WAISTS.

THEY MAY BE VERY POPULAR NEXT SUMMER.

New York Belles Now Preparing Afternoon Dresses For the Country and Seashore. They Taboo the Distended Skirt—New Designs In Jewelry.

[Copyright, 1893, by American Press Association.]

I can remember, and I am not so very old either, when a good faille or grosgrain silk could not be bought for less than $4 a yard, and now one can get a handsome piece of silk at $1, and by watching closely one often comes across a piece for 59 to 75 cents and from that downward. It needs to be a superb silk or a high novelty now to bring more than $1, and the lighter qualities of silks are really scarcely more expensive than fine cotton dress goods, and they are nice and pleasant to wear.

SILK GOWNS.

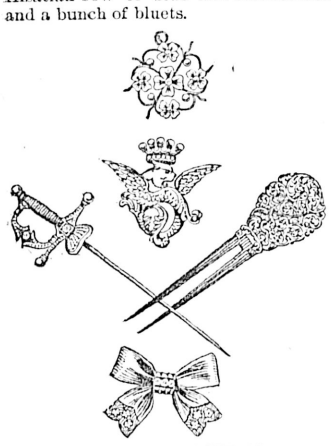

No cotton, however thin, is as cool as china silk or pongee, and I notice among the new things put forward a very large line of dainty blouses, waists and sacques of these light silks in black, white and other colors, particularly in Habutai and wash silks. The china silks will all wash and keep their color in everything but cardinal and green. Those colors are apt to streak.

Some of the pretty waists made of white or black silk have adjustable collarettes, made by sewing fishtail ends of ribbon to a band, the longest in front and graduating up to the middle of the back, where the collar ties with a bow and short ends. On the upper edge of the band is a quilling of the same ribbon. Some of these are made of velvet ribbon, and others of different kinds and colors. All are dainty and girlish and attractive. They will be worn with different summer gowns.

The young ladies who are now preparing to go to Newport, Lenox and other places where their new gowns will have the best chance to be admired are having loads of pretty afternoon dresses made here and also imported. It is a little remarkable that the very ladies who have always been noted for their advance in all new styles are very shy of taking the lead in the distended skirts, and only very few are made with stiffening in the skirts, and they are of such material as is most suitable for walking and visiting. For summer and home wear the young lady of today wants something that she can lounge in, and no sane person would get into a hammock with hoops or even a stiffened skirt. There would be no boating, no tennis, no alpine climbing or even plain, simple buggy rides possible, and this summer at least will see our young girls dressed much as they were last summer, with the exception of the big sleeves and quaint headwear and the almost omnipresent bretelles.

One of the best and most carefully dressed young ladies in this city is Miss Hewitt, daughter of ex-Mayor Hewitt, and Miss Gunther, daughter of another ex-mayor, is equally well known for her taste in dress, and neither of these young ladies intends to wear hoops or anything approaching to them. Miss Gunther has received a gown of navy blue china silk without figures, and this is made with four very narrow bias ruffles around the bottom, with turned hems, each having a narrow piping of baby blue.

The waist is round and draped with folds of the navy blue, with narrow pipings of baby blue wherever it can be put in. It is surplice front. There is a full ruffle of the dark blue around the neck lined with the light, and this falls so as to leave the neck open very slightly in front. The sleeves have loose puffs at the top, and the lower part is shirred and held by light blue round piping. The hat that she wears with this is a black straw, round and flat, with a large Alsatian bow of blue and black ribbon and a bunch of bluets.

NEW FANCIES IN JEWELS.

Miss Hewitt's prettiest dress is made of china silk, old gold ground, with old rose and olive green flowers over it. Around the bottom is a deep flounce of black chantilly, headed by a double ruffle of the dress material. Across the bust is a long scarf of black lace, which ties in the back in a bow, and the ends reach nearly to the bottom of the dress. The upper sleeve is puffed, and the lower is a deep ruffle of the lace only. The hat is a wide brimmed rough straw in old rose and is lavishly trimmed with black lace, with a few primroses apparently growing there.

This idea I have seen carried out on many hats. There will be a little tuft of grass, out of which peep little or big flowers, just as if planted there. The idea is meant to be very artistic, but it really does not appear the right one exactly, as it makes one think of the heavy flowerpot.

I want to speak of two more very elegant gowns belonging to two other society belles. One is of lavender india silk, with purple asters and green leaves upon it. The waist, sleeves and a band at the foot are of soft green faille just the color of the leaves. A pointed lace bertha and ruffles at the sleeves add lightness to it.

The other is of tender apple green india silk, with perfect anemones printed upon it. Around the bottom is a lace flounce, garnished with ribbon loops and bows to match the color of the flowers. A green faille collarette reaches to the point at the waist and is three shades darker than the groundwork of the dress. Ruffles of lace form caps to the sleeves, which are made of plain silk. In the back there is a watteau drapery of lace, forming a short train. These gowns are quite handsome enough for any occasion, except perhaps a ceremonious function.

Would you like to see some of the new designs in jewelry? A bowknot pin is made of a gold that looks exactly like a satin ribbon and is set with 3 diamonds and 30 small pearls. This pin is indifferently used as collar lace pin or to fasten one's watch with. Another pin is in the shape of a dragon, his wings and body being iridescent, with some kind of treatment to the gold. Over the head is a crown set with pearls, diamonds or rubies.

One I saw has emeralds at the top and diamonds below and a dainty pin of pearl and diamonds set in four of blue enamel forgetmenots, with diamond centers and pearl buds. A hairpin was of dead gold in intricate pattern openwork and large enough to be called a comb. There was a sword hatpin of gold set with many fine small pearls, three large ones and two emeralds. Emeralds and rubies are the most popular jewels except diamonds. Topaz is preferred now to any of the less expensive jewels.

WOMAN'S WORLD IN PARAGRAPHS.

A Wife Who Tried to Catch Her Runaway Husband.

An incident at once pathetic and shocking occurred at a railway station in Pennsylvania not long since. A negro man told his wife he was going to leave her and would never live with her any more. Then he strode off and boarded the next train. The deserted woman snatched up their little girl, 4 years old, and followed him, reaching the platform just as the train slowly glided away. She attempted to climb upon one of the cars, although they were already in motion. She slipped and fell, and the wheels of the rear car passed over her and the child. The child's legs were both cut off, and it died in the hospital a few hours afterward. The mother was badly cut and wounded, but may get well. It was a frightful scene, the bleeding, mangled forms, the dying child and the horrified exclamations of the trainload of people who gathered about them. It was the poorest possible way to bring a renegade husband back, and the unfortunate creature ought to have known that. In the first place, she would most likely have been better off without him, on general principles. Negro men of this generation are not half so industrious as the women. Many of them lie down and grow fat on the money their wives earn by washing and scrubbing. They do not even repay their keep by good treatment of the women who support them, but are as bossy and overbearing as the strictest believer in the subjection of wives would have them be. When the lazy, worthless black animal told his wife he was going to run away from her, she should merely have answered: "Get out just as quick as you can, or I'll help you out. I can earn a good living for myself and my child, and I'm going to do it. Don't you ever come back here, for not another bite will I ever cook for you—now you mind." The fellow would have backed down quick if he had thought she really meant it. No! Whimpering and reproaches are no means for curing a recreant husband. Heroic treatment must be resorted to. I have seen some of them permanently cured by a dose of their own medicine. A husband who is inclined to flirt and be gay is kept in much better trim when he does not feel quite sure that his wife may not do some flirting on her own account.

A writer wants dressmaking taught as a branch of education to all the girls in the public schools. Should all the boys learn tailoring too?

Speed the day when the abbreviated skirt and free motion for women's feet come in!

Women are going to see to it in Kansas that the impression does not get abroad that women are indifferent about voting, in view of the approaching election when the woman suffrage amendment to the constitution will be decided. The ladies registered in unprecedented numbers this spring, showing that they meant to improve to the utmost the school and municipal suffrage they already have. In Emporia 883 women registered, against only 606 men. Women don't want to vote, don't they?

Mrs. M. V. Taylor, who died recently in Pittsburg, had made a great success in the business of selling oil well supplies. She was the only woman in this line of work in the country.

Poor old Ohio! She is getting to be as fogyish a state as some of the tough old original 13 themselves are. Her house of representatives has defeated school suffrage for women by a vote of 49 to 38. Meantime strong, liberal, noble young states farther west are going ahead of Ohio in prosperity and population. They will march ahead of her faster than ever now. Progressive, capable young women will go to states where there is a wider field for their abilities.

ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER.

THE LITTLE LIFE CALLS FOR CARE!

Mother, You Are Responsible!

When baby comes to gladden the home, a terrible responsibility is imposed upon the mother. The life of the tender flower is in her care and keeping. In order to preserve the fragile plant, the mother must use her best efforts in one direction. The baby's dieting becomes the all-important subject; its daily food will cause it to grow in flesh, bone and muscle, or will be the means of contributing to sickness, weakness and death.

When selecting a food for baby it is imperatively necessary to follow the truths of science. Foods that do not possess the elements of pure breast milk cannot possibly sustain frail babies with imperfect digestive powers. Of all the foods ever prepared for infants, the well-known Lactated Food is the only perfect substitute for healthy breast milk. Lactated Food is free from all injurious ingredients that are found in the common foods of the day. Physicians everywhere are recommending Lactated Food, because it is easily assimilated and is a preventive of diarrhœa and dysentry. Mothers are strongly urged to give this great food a trial. In every case it means life, health and growth to the child, and contributes to the mother's comfort and happiness.

A Living Illustration.

One day during the period when Henry Cabot Lodge—now Senator Lodge—was a member of the house, a countryman and his wife were watching the proceedings on the floor from the gallery, one of the features being a speech by Mr. L. The old fellow had his eye on Mr. Lodge in evident admiration, and at last he turned to the man next to him for information.

"Who is that down there in the aisle talking to the boy?" he asked.

"Congressman Lodge," was the reply.

"Where's he from?"

"Massachusetts—Boston."

"Boston, did you say?" queried the countryman.

"Yes, Boston."

The old chap turned to his wife, who had been listening.

"There, Mary," he exclaimed, "just see what beans and brains will do for a man that ain't half as big as a haystack."—Detroit Free Press.

"If I only had me hands on the mon that's holdin that dure!"—Life.

Pope Leo as a Wit.

For his repartees and witty remarks the pope has long been renowned. What, for example, could be neater than his remark about the English house of lords, which he made to the Duke of Norfolk during the latter's recent visit to Rome? "At what age," he asked the duke, "can an English peer take his seat in parliament?" "At 21," was the reply. "It is evident, then," remarked the pope, "that English patricians acquire the necessary talents for legislation much sooner than those of ancient Rome, who were not admitted to the senate till the age of 40."

His readiness at repartee, however, was never more ably demonstrated than on a memorable occasion at Brussels several years ago while as Mgr. Pecci he was filling the post of nuncio at the Belgian capital. At a dinner party at which he was one of the guests a certain marquis had the brutality to point out to him upon the lid of a snuffbox a nude and indecent figure of Venus. Undisturbed by the smothered laughter of the marquis and his companions, the nuncio looked at it attentively a few moments and then handed it back with a polite bow and said very quietly: "Charming. A portrait of the marchioness, I take it for granted."

Still it is rather as a humorist pure and simple than as a master of sarcasm that his holiness has become noted throughout Italy, and that he can thoroughly enjoy a joke even at his own expense is made clear from the following story, which was on every one's lips in Rome some time ago: In a newspaper article descriptive of his daily life the fact was mentioned that he always dined alone. The pope's attention was drawn to the article, and after reading the paragraph he laid the paper down and remarked quizzically, "Yes, it is true that I dine alone, and yet I am always the thirteenth at table."—New York Herald.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

The School Loan Must Have Public Endorsation Before the Estimates Are Approved.

Deeds of Sites to Be Requested From the Government—Aldermen's Indemnity Increased.

The Board of Aldermen sat in committee of the whole last evening to consider proposed by-laws. There were present Mayor Beaven, in the chair, and Ald. McKillican, Bragg, Henderson, McTavish, Munn and Belyea.

The by-law for a loan of $10,000 for park purposes was reported complete.

The estimates submitted by the School Board, amounting to $110,000, for new school buildings and sites, were next taken up.

The Mayor suggested in this connection a change in the form of the school loans by-law, which, as introduced by Ald. Bragg, specified the amounts to be devoted to each of the proposed schools. After consultation with the City Barristers, he had come to the conclusion that the by-law should simply ask for the sum of $110,000 "for educational purposes," leaving the disposition of the money in the hands of Council, before whom the board's proposal must come for approval. He thought to specify the amounts would be fatal to the by-law, as the ratepayers of one ward, while favorable to the new school there, might be inclined to vote against the grant for another ward's school. The City Barristers recommended that the Council should first consider and determine upon the estimates of the board.

ALD. BRAGG moved that the sum of $15,500 included in the amount proposed to be borrowed, and intended for repairs and working expenses, be held over for further consideration.

ALD. BELYEA seconded the motion, as he objected to borrowing any money for working expenses, which certainly ought to be paid out of each year's revenue.

The motion carried, and the amount accordingly stands over.

On the proposition for the expenditure of $35,000 for a new high school building in the Central ward,

ALD. BELYEA objected to spending any money on a building on a site which was not the property of the corporation. The present school site, upon which it was intended to put the new building, was the property of the Government, with whom some arrangement should be made before any money was spent on a building.

ALD. MUNN took the same view, and had no doubt that a by-law put before the people for a building on a site that did not belong to them would be defeated. He thought the people were already restive about the numerous agencies for spending their money—the Government, the school trustees, the police commissioners, the license board, etc.

ALD. BRAGG thought the amount might very well stand over, as the new high school was really not needed. The two ward schools were, however, a disgrace to the city, and on the Work estate particularly there should be a new one immediately.

ALD. BELYEA said it seemed to him that the suggestion made that separate by-laws should be submitted for each of the schools was explained by the remarks of Ald. Bragg, who represented a very populous ward, whose ratepayers might turn out to a man to vote for their own school and defeat the by-laws for the others.

ALD. MCKILLICAN held that a new central or high school was very badly needed. He called attention to the unsanitary condition of the central school for want of drainage, and thought the street committee should give attention to the improper condition of the sewers in that neighborhood.

THE MAYOR thought it would be a good plan to communicate with the Government at once, to have sites transferred to the city, and he would have the City Clerk write to-morrow. As to the drainage complained of, the fault was not that of the Street committee, who had no power to enter upon the Government property.

ALD. BELYEA suggested that the by-law should be submitted and the sites obtained before the estimates were approved. Then, if the people granted the money, and the Government gave the sites, the Council could approve the estimates. If they were approved first, then the Council would be liable for the money, no matter what happened the by-law.

The consideration of the estimates was then deferred; and the proposed by-law for granting aid to the School board for educational purposes was taken into consideration. The amounts of money were left in blank until a later stage, when more information is available. The by-law was reported and the committee asked leave to sit again.

ALD BRAGG announced that Ald. Miller had left him a request in writing to go on with his "remuneration" by-law.

ALD. BELYEA objected to going on with this by-law with the promoter and two other members of the Council absent.

On motion the by-law was read a first time, Ald. Belyea alone dissenting. Ald. McTavish had already left the meeting. The second reading was then also taken, and the Council went into committee of the whole.

The by-law provides for making the aldermanic remuneration $400 instead of $200 as at present. The by-law was reported and stands for third reading.

ALD. HENDERSON wished to have the Council go on with the Municipal Council by-law, but the Mayor said that the by-law had been withdrawn according to his endorsement. The principal object was to change the night of meeting, and this could be fixed by introducing another by-law.

The Council adjourned at 10 o'clock until Monday next, when the Sewerage Commissioners' by-law will be taken up.

A RANCHER MURDERED.

Sensational Story from a Town on the Boundary—Robbery the Supposed Incentive.

Huntingdon, B.C., is a frontier settlement situated at the junction of the Canadian Pacific, the Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern, and the Bellingham Bay & British Columbia railways. The place has come suddenly into prominence by reason of the report of a sensational murder which came by telegraph yesterday, and caused general inquiry as to its location. The story is thus told:

HUNTINGDON, April 20.—John Marshall, a rancher, living about one mile north of here, was shot and killed about 5:30 this morning. Mr. Airheart found the body lying outside, with the head resting on the door-sill. The bullet had entered above the right eye, apparently causing instant death. The house door was open and a lamp was burning on the table. Dishes on the table plainly showed that some person took supper with Marshall last night. A neighbor, Mr. Porter, saw Marshall alive at 5 p.m. yesterday. So far there is no clue to the murderer, but this place and Sumas have been infested with toughs lately. Marshall was aged forty, a native of Portugal and unmarried. He was honest, sober, industrious and respected by all. He had the reputation of keeping money in the house, which may have been an inducement to commit murder. The inside of the house was not disturbed, but an old purse was found beside the body.

THE GOLD CURE IN VICTORIA.

Operations of the Local Branch—A Number of Patients and Only One Reported Failure.

Some local interest attached to the telegraphic announcement in the newspapers a few days ago, of the sale of the Keely gold cure concern for several million dollars, from the fact that there has been in Victoria for a few months past a Keely cure establishment. This was located in the Burnes house and afterwards in the London block, but the down-town offices have now been closed. Mr. W. C. Shaw, the local manager, was seen by a COLONIST reporter yesterday, at his residence on Pembroke street.

"The concern which has changed hands," he said, "is the original Keely cure company, of which Leslie E. Keely is the head. The office in Victoria is a branch of another company of which W. H. Keely, nephew of the original patentee, is the head. We are therefore not affected by the sale. Our headquarters are at Tacoma, and so far as I am aware we have no agency in Canada except this one in Victoria.

"The patronage here has not been so good as would have been the case in an American city of the same size. The people here seem slow to put confidence in a new thing. We have had, however, about ten patients, and so far as has been reported to me the cure has been permanent in all but one. Our conditions are 'No cure, no pay,' and the cost of the treatment, which lasts four weeks, is only $100, a sum soon spent when a man is drinking. Our treatment, like that of the original Keely company, combines the administration of medicines with the use of hypodermic injections, but one advantage we claim for our treatment is that it can be safely applied to any person, no matter what their constitution may be.

"We will open new offices down town shortly, and expect to have more custom when we are better known. The field is not exhausted. I have by me a list of about a hundred persons who are unwilling victims of the liquor habit and whose friends would willingly have them try our cure."

HEAVY STORMS.

Exceedingly Tough Weather in Minnesota and Wisconsin—Lives Lost.

ST. PAUL, April 20.—A heavy snow fell last night and to-day in north-western Minnesota and eastern North Dakota, and to-night extends all over these States. Fergus Falls, Minnesota, reports a fall of ten inches and still falling, being the heaviest in four years. Five inches fell during the day at Montevideo, Osakis, Minn., reports one of the worst snowstorms of the season; thirteen inches fell up to 7 o'clock to-night, when there were no signs of the storm abating. When the snow turns to rain there will be a heavy flood.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 20. — Lake Michigan is being swept by one of the worst easterly gales experienced in years. The sea is running very high and tugs are unable to venture out of the harbor. A vessel is ashore at the head of Juneau avenue. The worst features of the gale at this port is the probable loss of twenty lives by the washing away of a house over the crib at the terminus of the new waterworks tunnel. No men are in sight, and it is believed they were swept away; but they may be in the air lock below. Five or six men can be seen clinging to the machinery and timbers of the waterworks crib. The water is sweeping over them.

A Still Seized.

The spectacle of a prominent official of the Inland Revenue Department marching down Fort and Government streets, between two stalwart members of the city police yesterday exercised the curiosity of that gentleman's friends, and their inquiry developed an interesting story. It seems that information had been conveyed to the police that a still was on the premises of a highly respected business man on Fort street, contrary to the provisions of the law in such cases made and provided. The police in turn communicated with the Inland Revenue officials, and Mr. R Jones accordingly proceeded with two officers to make the seizure. The still is now in the custom house. The law requires that every person having a still in his possession shall report the fact to the department before a certain date in each year. It seems that this still has lain unused in the premises where it was seized since 1885, and though at first duly reported to the department it had subsequently been lost sight of. Though it seems no offence has wittingly been committed the department appears to have no option but to bring the case into court.

A MISSISSIPPI CYCLONE.

Death and Destruction on All Hands—Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars' Loss.

MERIDEN, Miss., April 20.—Passengers on the train which reached here early this morning gave particulars of a frightful tornado that crossed Jasper and Clarke counties yesterday afternoon. The cyclone originated in Jasper county, 35 miles south of here, and travelled in a northwesterly direction. The settlement, consisting of negro cabins, was destroyed and many unfortunates perished. Col. Berris' magnificent plantation was swept clean, but fortunately none of the family were injured. Several negroes were badly hurt. From this point to Barnet, 30 miles south of here, the storm was especially severe.

Dr. T. J. Krouse, one of the largest plantation owners in the South, was a heavy loser. Every stick of timber on his place was carried away, every house demolished and Dr. Krouse badly injured. His son has his skull crushed and his wife and daughter are slightly hurt.

A negro on Dr. Krouse's plantation, named Henry German, with a wife and nine children, are imprisoned under the ruins of their cabin, while fire from the overturned kitchen stove is slowly reaching the poor wretches. Other negro inmates of the cabins on the place are bruised badly.

Three miles east of Barnet the wind struck the neighborhood of Farmer Thompson's place. His dwelling was swept away, his legs broken, and several members of his family slightly bruised. John Smith's house was levelled, and he received serious injuries. Frank McCormick's turpentine still is ruined. B. F. Leggett's store is destroyed and his stock of merchandise is now hanging on the branches of the neighboring trees. A little further on three negro cabins were struck, two negroes killed and several badly wounded. Twenty miles east of Barnet the storm crossed the Memphis and Ohio railway track, tearing down three miles of telegraph poles and wires for a distance of five miles along the track of the New Orleans and Northeastern railway, down to the crossing of the Memphis and Ohio tracks.

North of Schuberta, the storm worked havoc among the negro cabins on different plantations. Reports of damage are coming in slowly, but such as are received indicate an awful loss of life and property all along the track of the hurricane. For thirty miles the cyclone's path is strewn with the carcases of horses and cattle and all description of life stock, while all crops are ruined. The loss will reach hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Killed at a Turning Lathe.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—Gus Gonzales, an apprentice in the shops of the Wagner Manufacturing Co., while working at a turning lathe this afternoon was almost instantly killed by a chisel, which tore loose from its fastenings, flew out and pierced him just over the heart. Gonzales was 24 years of age and unmarried.

Miss Mattie A. Cobb
of Providence, R. I.

Undoubtedly many diseases may be prevented if the blood is kept pure and the general health-tone sustained by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla. When this is done, the germs of

La Grippe, Diphtheria

Pneumonia, Scarlet and Typhoid Fevers, Malaria, etc., cannot lodge in the system. After all such prostrating diseases Hood's Sarsaparilla has been found of inestimable value in restoring desired health and vigor, and purifying the tainted blood.

For example, read the following from Miss Mattie A. Cobb of Providence, R. I., and her mother. Miss Cobb is a young lady of 18, a and is in the front rank in her studies in the High School. Her father is a well-known police officer:

"Messrs. C. I. Hood & Co.:

"I write to tell how much good Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. Sometime ago I had diphtheria and was sick for a year afterward, being

Weak, Blind and Helpless

I used one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and it made me real strong." MATTIE A. COBB, South Chester Avenue, Providence, R. I.

"As my daughter wanted to write how well she liked Hood's Sarsaparilla, I thought I would say a few words. I think it is the ever brought before the people. Some of my friends say 'go away with your medicine.' I said the same once, but since my daughter has taken

Hood's Sarsaparilla

My opinion has changed considerably." MRS. GEO. N. COBB, Providence, R. I.

HOOD'S PILLS do not weaken the system like other cathartics, but actually tone up and give strength to the patient.

THROW AWAY CRUTCHES

MARVELLOUS

Rheumatic Liniment and Mixture

Rapid and Effective Cure.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 17, 1893.

To Dean & Cryderman, druggists.

GENTLEMEN,—With much pleasure I add my testimony to your valuable Marvellous Rheumatic Cure. For three months I suffered terrible pain. Could not move only by the aid of two sticks. I have only taken two bottles of the medicine and two of the liniment, and I can now go without sticks, and hope after the third bottle to go to work.

Yours very thankfully,
S. NORMAN,
No. 48 Oswego street, corner Michigan street.

If you have Rheumatism, Lame Back or any Severe Ache or Pain, The Marvelous Rheumatic Liniment will Cure it quickly.

DISTRICT OF BURNABY.

$25,000 of Debenture Bonds for Sale.

TENDERS are invited for Debenture Bonds for $25,000 to be issued by the Corporation of the District of Burnaby on 1st June next, bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum and payable 50 years after date.

This loan forms the first and only charge against the District, which according to the Assessment Roll now made up is valued at $1,500,639. This valuation does not include about 1800 acres of first class land which is still held by the Government.

The District lies between the Cities of New Westminster and Vancouver, and as regards a considerable area is practically Suburban. It is traversed by the Canadian Pacific Railway, and the Inter-urban Electric Tramway; and the Northern Pacific Railway Company is about to construct a line through it.

The object of the loan is to enable the Council to build new roads through the district, and these will greatly enhance the value of the property.

Further particulars may be had on application to Messrs. Philip Kerr & Co., 46 Lorne street, New Westminster, and sealed tenders must be lodged with the Chairman of the Finance Committee, care of Councillor William Johnston, Box 205, New Westminster, on or before the 1st day of May, 1893.

The Council do not bind themselves to accept the highest or any offer.
